UNCLE SAM IS IN THE STRIKE

Federal Court Issues Injunction Against Chicago's Teamsters.

SITUATION IS GRAVE

Troops May Be Called Out and City May Be Placed Under Martial Law.

MAYOR DUNNE HURRIES HOME

On the side of the strikers yesterday's progress consisted of a doubling of the number of men out, the establishment of one of the most comprehensive picketing systems ever attempted and the resort to violence to prevent freight traffic in the streets.

On the employers' side the development of prime importance was the issuance of a federal injunction against any interference whatever with the business or employes of the Employers Teaming Company.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 28.—For the first time in Chicago since the strike of the American Railway Union in 1894, the government of the United States has been made a party to labor troubles. The government was brought into the teamsters' strike today by the issuance of an injunction by Judge C. C. Kohlsaat of the United States circuit court. The writ was asked in behalf of the Employers' Teaming association, on the grounds that the organization is incorporated under the laws of West Virginia and is therefore under the protection of the federal court.

The federal court order commands that all defendants refrain from any interference with the business of the Employers' Teaming association, and commands the strikers to refrain from picketing, massing in streets with intent to interfere with the wagons of the complainant, and from interfering in any manner with non-union men in its employment.

As soon as issued, the injunction was printed on large cards and two of these were attached to every wagon of the Employers' Teaming association. The injunction exerted a pacifying influence, and there was less rioting in the streets than on yesterday. Twelve arrests were made for interference with the injunction.

Warned Against Violence.

At 1:30 this afternoon two wagons loaded with coal approached the Union League club in Jackson boulevard, and when they attempted to drive into a narrow alley east of the club house to unload, the non-union teamsters were attacked by strike sympathizers. A lively fight resulted. The wagons were plainly marked with copies of the injunction, and the police in charging the mob arrested 12 strikers, who are now confined in Harrison street police station.

One hundred and five copies of the injunction were given to United States Marshal Ames for service on labor leaders, and five deputy marshals were sent out immediately to serve them. Most of the notices had been given by evening.

When the news of the injunction reached President Shea of the Teamsters' union, he issued the following order signed by the committee of Teamsters' business agents:

To All Union Teamsters: Permit no violation of the peace under any circumstances. Competent drivers cannot be procured to handle the teams in Chicago, and violence will not help us in this strike. Be loyal to your union and obey its instructions.

The injunction writ is made returnable on May 10, and the defendants will be given a hearing on that day.

The general agents of the seven express companies involved in the strike this afternoon decided to pool their issues on the delivery of goods. Twenty wagons of the Adams Express Company made several trips around the downtown quarter in caravans of from three to five wagons each. While several men were arrested for shouting at the drivers, no direct violence was offered.

To Transfer the Money.

The express companies have had the task in the past of transferring money from the Pennsylvania railway station and the Baltimore & Ohio station to the United States sub-treasury. Fearing that the express wagons might be attacked, or that the companies would be unable to fulfill their contracts regarding the transfer of money, the sub-treasury officers informed the treasury department in Washington of the situation. The war department was consulted and telegraphed to Col. Duggan, acting commander of the Department of the Lakes, to use army wagons and a soldier guard if the express wagons and their usual guards could not be used.

"I was instructed to arrange for the transfer of the money," said Col. Duggan. "These instructions do not mean that I am to order troops into Chicago and with them guard express wagons. If the express companies cannot operate their wagons, I have instructions to call on the quartermaster at Fort Sheridan for the necessary supplies. This means to call for wagons and teams, and the customary guards necessary to protect such wagons." The express companies may seek a federal injunction tomorrow.

The strike spread steadily today. Most of the teamsters going out were those employed by small concerns. There are now about 3,500 teamsters on strike and their inaction has largely deprived about 15,000 other men from work. It was impossible today to have a package delivered to any address outside of the downtown business quarter from any of the large drygoods stores.

Three Persons Hurt.

President Shea of the Teamsters' union and President Dold of the Chicago Federation of Labor made efforts today to secure a conference with the four brotherhoods of railway employes, but nothing has developed along this line. It is not probable, however, that any spread of the strike will be made in any direction outside of the Teamsters' union until Sunday, when all the organizations to

WILL MAKE RAILS OF OPEN-HEARTH

THEY WILL NOT START SOON

Foreseeing as inevitable the adoption of open-hearth steel rails in place of Bessemer rails the United States Steel Corporation is quietly making plans to manufacture the open-hearth product. Blue prints have been prepared for 24 open-hearth furnaces at the Edgar Thomson works at Braddock to make the steel required. The Bessemer process is used exclusively at present and there is an enormous investment in the plant and machinery to produce the Bessemer rails in the quantity needed by the market.

The Tennessee Coal and Iron Company is ahead of the Steel Corporation in this matter, and already has open-hearth rails in the market. The tests made are said to have demonstrated the superiority of the rail in hardness and durability, and the railroad managements are taking a keen interest in the matter. It was announced a few days ago that standard sections of the open-hearth rail had been placed on the main line of the Pennsylvania and will be given every test which comes to a rail in constant heavy use.

The large amount of money already invested in the Bessemer machinery and plant at the Edgar Thomson works and at the other rail mills of the Steel Corporation make that concern hold on to the old process as long as possible, but it is said to be a recognized fact that the open-hearth rail will have to be manufactured as the standard in a very few years at the most. It was the realization of this fact that led to the preparation of the plans for the location of the 24-open-hearth furnaces at Braddock.

Rails are one of the last iron and steel products that the newer process of steel making has invaded. In certain other lines it long ago demonstrated its superiority, and won out over all the prejudice in favor of the Bessemer process.

LEGISLATORS LAUGHED AT NEGRO PREACHER'S PRAYER

He Prayed That Albany Solons Might Have Courage to Resist Influence of Graft and Lobby.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ALBANY, April 28.—In opening the session of the assembly with prayer today, the Rev. C. H. McDonald, a colored clergyman, prayed that the legislature have the courage and power to resist the influence of graft and the lobby. At the end of the prayer the assemblymen broke out into laughter. Speaker Nixon was forced to pound vigorously to obtain order.

It was the first time in many years that any clergyman was bold enough to speak of graft in a prayer in the house. The minister's prayer was:

Bless the members of this distinguished body, and when life's journey is at an end, we ask Thee to bring us to that general assembly where Jesus Christ will be the speaker, and business shall be transacted without graft or at the dictation of the lobbyist.

Apparently it was the first good scrub he had for several years.

PRESIDENT AND PARTY KILL FOUR MORE BEARS

The Report That Mr. Roosevelt Was Ill Proved to Be Unfounded.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, COL., April 28.—Details of the killing on yesterday of four bears by President Roosevelt's party have not arrived. Secretary Loeb received a telephone message from a ranch house two miles from the camp. The message was dictated by the president. It was read to Mr. Loeb by Mr. Chapman, a courier. It said:

"We got four bears yesterday. We are all well."

There was more to the message touching on government affairs, but the rumor that the president had been ill was proved unfounded.

It has not been determined when the party will remove to its new camp, about 16 miles from Glenwood Springs. The sport on West Divide creek has been so good that the president dislikes to leave. At the same time it is believed the change proposed will result in the killing of grizzlies, and this variety has been scarce. Brown bears have been found in plenty, but the grizzly and the silver-tip appear to be too wily for the hunters.

BANK FAILS TO OPEN DOORS.

Institution of J. L. & A. L. Kelley Closes at Cambridge Springs—Six Assignments Are Made.

MEADVILLE, April 28.—(Special.)—The banking house of J. L. and A. L. Kelley of Cambridge Springs failed to open its doors this morning, causing much surprise, as the institution was supposed to be in good shape. The Kelleys, it is said, attribute their trouble to poor health. They claim to own realty worth from $100,000 to $125,000, and in time will be able to pay depositors in full. Late tonight they filed six deeds of assignment to F. R. Nichols and C. C. Moore, both of Cambridge Springs. The first is by J. L. & A. L. Kelley and the others by J. L. Kelley, Alton A. Kelley, Frank R. Kelley, Amos Kelley, and A. L. Kelley & Son. All the assignments to Nichols and Moore represent the assets of the individuals named.

NEW WIRELESS SYSTEM.

Priest is Successful in Sending Message from Wilkesbarre to Scranton.

WILKESBARRE, April 28.—(Special.)—The first wireless telegraph message by the system invented by the Rev. Father Joseph Murgas of this city, was sent this morning from Scranton, and received here, the test being successfully and highly satisfactory. As soon as the system is established between this city and Scranton, the Rev. Father Murgas will build a station at Philadelphia and send messages there.

His system differs from others now in use in that each letter of the alphabet is designated by a musical note, and not the Morse series of dots and dashes, and by this system messages may be sent at many times the speed of others.

TOKYO, April 28.—The Japanese-Korean agreement giving Japan control and management of the Korean posts, telegraphs and telephones was granted today.

RAMSEY STAYS WITH THE WABASH

WILL BE TOGETHER IN EUROPE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, April 28.

Differences which have existed in the Wabash management have been patched up and it was officially announced today that Joseph Ramsey, Jr., the president of the company, will remain in that office.

When Mr. Ramsey left St. Louis to attend the directors' meeting in New York, held today, it was his intention to tender his resignation as president of the Wabash. After the meeting Winslow Pierce, one of the directors, announced that Mr. Ramsey will continue as president. It was also positively stated that Mr. Ramsey changed his mind and consented to remain at the solicitation of Mr. George Gould.

Wall street has been greatly interested in the developments of the Gould properties, following the announcement of the financial plans of the Western Pacific and the retirement of Mr. Gould from the Union Pacific. These events were preceded by the reports of a traffic war between the Gould roads and the United States Steel Corporation, the resignation of Mr. Ramsey from the Pittsburgh Terminal Company and his contemplated resignation from the Wabash. To these developments was added the resignation of Cyrus J. Lawrence, one of the old directors of the Wabash. The numerous changes had a bad effect on the various Gould shares and declines were general.

That efforts have been made to patch up all differences is borne out to some extent in the following official announcement made by Mr. Pierce after the meeting:

"There seems to be a misunderstanding of the Wabash situation. No friction or disagreement of any kind exists, and no changes in the personnel of the management are due to any such reasons. Published reports in the nature of criticism of the administration or the property or indicating disappointment with its developments are entirely erroneous. Mr. Ramsey remains as president of the company, and while it is said has been for some time past his intention to go abroad for several months, the arrangements for his absence have been entirely at his own request. There is nothing in the Wabash situation involving friction or ill will between him and any members of the board of officers of the company. The personal relations between him and Mr. Gould are entirely cordial, and I happen to know that their plans for the summer involve their meeting and being together in Europe."

MAYOR M'CLELLAN SAYS P. R. R. MEN MADE THREATS

New York Executive Retaliates by Vetoing Three Measures Passed by the Legislature.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—Charging that representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had made threats to him in his office in the city hall, Mayor McClellan made public tonight his veto of the three bills passed by the legislature, transferring from the aldermen to the board of estimate and apportionment the power to pass upon applications for franchises in New York city.

"If I did not accept these measures," said the mayor, "I was told they would be passed over my veto."

Declaring that such manifestations of insolence must be rebuked, the mayor added the statement that he had been advised by the representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad that the legislature would not be permitted to adjourn until the bills were repassed.

BOWEN MUST FURNISH PROOF

Mr. Roosevelt Will Call Venezuelan Minister to Washington

REQUEST OF LOOMIS

LIKELY VACANCY IN CARACAS

Minister Bowen will tomorrow be recalled from Caracas to produce whatever proof he has of the grave charges made by him against Assistant Secretary Loomis of the state department. Secretary Taft said tonight he will have early tomorrow morning authority from President Roosevelt to do this.

President Roosevelt is directing by telegraph from his hunting camp in Colorado, the investigation of the grave charges preferred by Minister Bowen, against the official integrity of Mr. Loomis. Secretary Taft submits all developments of the case to the president and acts only upon his instructions. Orders for Mr. Bowen to proceed home await the president's word.

Throughout Washington interest in the investigation is sustained at a high pitch. It is generally realized that it is now in order for Mr. Loomis and Mr. Bowen to fight it out, with the president as an impartial judge. In the highest official quarters it is frankly stated that the way is clear for the termination of an impossible situation. Minister Bowen, weeks ago, while Secretary Hay was still in Washington, cabled from Caracas that it was reported in the clubs and on the street that President Castro held a check for $10,000 made out to Mr. Loomis by the Asphalt company. This drew from Secretary Hay a rebuke to Mr. Bowen. There is official authority for the statement that Mr. Hay informed Mr. Bowen that he should not have reported gossip and that he should not have sent it by cable.

Bowen Makes Further Charges.

Secretary Hay before doing this conveyed Mr. Bowen's dispatch to President Roosevelt. President Roosevelt investigated the charge about the cable, satisfied himself it was not well founded and left Washington without further action in the case. He had not been absent long when he received from Mr. Bowen, of whom Mr. Taft was for four years a classmate at Yale, further charges. Of these Mr. Bowen declared there was documentary proof. He did not produce the full proofs which he said existed.

The charges were made by Mr. Bowen in a personal letter to Mr. Taft, but Mr. Taft decided he could not consider these charges personal, as he was acting head of the state department, but that they must be officially investigated. He transmitted them to President Roosevelt, who had then left Washington for the west. The president considered the charges, which did not include that concerning the $10,000 check received by Mr. Loomis from the Asphalt company, that had already been investigated and, to the president's satisfaction, discredited. Mr. Taft received the charges in return accompanied by instructions.

Acts on Request of Loomis.

These instructions were that the charges should be shown to Mr. Loomis and an answer, in writing, required of him. Mr. Loomis was furnished copies of the charges. He first decided to make a public statement in denial of them. To Secretary Taft he has not yet submitted his answer. He is allowed a reasonable time in which to do so. When received it will be sent to the president. Mr. Loomis meanwhile refuses to add anything to the sweeping denial he has already made.

Mr. Loomis upon reading the charges requested Secretary Taft to call Mr. Bowen to Washington to offer what proof he has of the charges. Mr. Taft has requested the president's permission to do this, and expects to get from Colorado by tomorrow, not only directions to order Mr. Bowen to Washington, but also what rearrangement to make of the American ministers to South American government so that Mr. Bowen's place at Caracas may be filled.

There is a strong possibility that W. W. Russell, American minister to Colombia, formerly secretary of legation under Mr. Bowen at Caracas, will become American minister at Caracas.

RAILROAD MAN CHOSEN PANAMA CANAL AUDITOR

Southern Pacific Official to Have Charge of the Accounting Departments.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

FITZHUGH LEE DIES SUDDENLY

Career of Distinguished Cavalry Officer and Citizen Is Closed.

TAKEN ILL ON TRAIN

HE SERVED IN THREE WARS

Brig.-Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, United States army, retired, former consul general at Havana and famous in the civil and Spanish-American wars, having been a major-general in the Confederate army, died at 11:20 o'clock tonight at Providence hospital in this city from a stroke of apoplexy, with which he was attacked early this morning on a train from Boston.

Gen. Lee and the physicians who were hastily summoned on the train, decided that he should be brought on to Washington, although he was suffering great pain at the time. He was taken to Providence hospital immediately on arrival here and although his entire left side was paralyzed and his heart seriously affected, his condition did not become serious until 10 o'clock tonight, when a sudden change was noted.

At his bedside tonight was his brother, Daniel Lee of Virginia, the only member of his family present. At 11 o'clock Dr. Edie said that Gen. Lee was in a very critical condition and it did not seem possible that he could live through the night. He remained conscious all through the day and even at 9 o'clock apparently recognized those about him. At 10 o'clock he began to lose consciousness, his heart became weaker, and respiration most difficult. From that time on he began to gradually sink until the end came. He was not conscious during the last hour.

Fatal Attack on Train.

Gen. Lee was suddenly stricken at 3 o'clock this morning, just as the Federal express on which he was coming to Washington reached the Mott Haven terminal of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Dr. Richard C. Cabot, who was on the train, was summoned to his side and did everything possible to relieve him. It was decided that he should remain on the train. His car was at once ferried to Jersey City and the train proceeded to Washington, where it arrived shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. Meanwhile Dr. Cabot had been joined by Dr. Schull, a surgeon of the Pennsylvania railroad, and both physicians were in constant attendance until his arrival in this city.

Nearly all the members of the general's family within reasonable distance of the capital will come to Washington immediately. Mrs. Lee, his widow, who has been visiting Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., will be here tomorrow with her two daughters who have been there with her. The orders of Lieut. George Lee, a son, who was about to sail for the Philippines, have been changed and he will come to Washington, and it is expected will be accompanied by his sister, the wife of Lieut. Brown, who also is now on the Pacific coast and whose orders were issued directing him to sail with his regiment for the Philippines.

Severe Shock to Friends.

The news of Gen. Lee's death was a severe shock to his numerous friends in Washington. This was evidenced by the many inquiries made at the hospital throughout the day and evening. Gen. Lee's death is largely attributed to his activity in behalf of the military and naval review which is to be held in the vicinity of Jamestown, Va. His heart and soul had been in the work and he labored zealously to make it a success. Gen. Lee long has been a prominent figure in Washington and he always was given a hearty reception wherever he went.

As soldier, politician and statesman, Gen. Lee had a prominent place in the history of his country. He was descended from a long line of distinguished ancestors. As a general on the Confederate side, as governor of Virginia and as United States consul general at Havana, he helped to make history. Although devoted to the "lost cause," when the end came he was the first to say: "The war is over—let bygones be bygones." He lived up to this patriotic doctrine.

Virginia May Claim Remains.

Arrangements for Gen. Lee's funeral together with the selection of the place for interment of the remains will not be made until after the arrival in Washington of Mrs. Lee. Meanwhile the body will be prepared for burial and will remain at the hospital. It is possible that the body may be held to rest at the National cemetery at Arlington, although it is expected that Gen. Lee's friends may make an effort to have a site chosen somewhere else in Virginia, the state in which he lived so many years and with whose interests he was so strongly identified.

A widow and five children survive Gen. Lee. Two of the boys are army officers and two of the girls are wives of army officers, while the remaining child is a young woman still in her teens. The children are Mrs. J. C. Rhea, wife of Lieut. Rhea, now at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.; Lieut. Fitzhugh Lee of the cavalry branch now in Manila; Lieut. George Mason Lee of the Seventh cavalry, who is now in San Francisco; Mrs. Anne Brown, wife of Lieut. Brown of the Seventh cavalry, who is now at San Francisco, and Miss Virginia Lee.

A pathetic feature of the case is that although Gen. Lee was blessed with a family consisting of a wife and five children, not one of them was with him at the time of his death.

Led an Active Life.

Gen. Lee was one of the moving spirits in the Jamestown exposition project. He was president of the exposition company and had been working constantly and with marked success in its behalf. He had made several trips through the west,

Gen. Lee was 68 years old, and always had enjoyed robust health. However, he had led an exceptionally active life, being a veteran of three wars. Since he took up the work of the Jamestown exposition he had made his official residence in Norfolk. However, his activities in connection with this work have given him very little time there. During the session of congress just closed, the general spent a large part of his time in Washington in the interest of the necessary legislation authorizing the exposition.

When the Pennsylvania legislature passed the bill at the recent session making an appropriation for participation in the Jamestown exposition, the following message was read in the senate:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.

Gov. Pennypacker, Harrisburg:—To you and the members of the legislature I return my profound acknowledgments for the interest in our Jamestown celebration. I shall refuse to ever ride again to Gettysburg with a drawn saber.

FITZHUGH LEE.

Gen. Lee was born in Fairfax county, Va., November 19, 1835. He was a nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee. He was graduated from West Point in 1856, and commissioned second lieutenant of the Second cavalry, serving in the west against the Indians, where he was severely wounded. He was an expert cavalry officer and on one occasion, June 16, 1860, he was engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with Comanche Indians, near Camp Colorado, Tex.

Leader in War and Peace.

In 1860 he was ordered to report at the United States military academy, as instructor of cavalry where he continued until the beginning of the civil war, when he joined the Confederacy and was commissioned first lieutenant of cavalry. He was made lieutenant-colonel of the First Virginia cavalry and was successively advanced to colonel, brigadier-general and major-general. He was wounded at Winchester, Va., September 19, 1864, after three horses had been shot under him. In the closing days of the war he had command of the cavalry corps of the Army of Northern Virginia and surrendered to Gen. Meade at Farmville, Va.

His public speech at Bunker Hill in 1874 went far to bring about a better feeling between the north and the south, and at the Washington centennial celebration in New York city in 1886 Gen. Lee, at the head of the Virginia troops in the parade, received the greatest ovation given any public man present.

During the interval between the civil war and his active work in the Spanish-American war, Gen. Lee filled a number of important positions, including the governorship of Virginia, the presidency of the Pittsburgh & Virginia railroad, the collectorship of internal revenue for the Lynchburg district and the consul-generalship at Havana. Following his honorable discharge from the volunteer arm on March 12, 1901, Gen. Lee was appointed to the regular army February 11, 1901, with the rank of brigadier-general, and with this rank was retired in the March following.

BOSTON, April 28.—The sudden death of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee at Washington tonight came as a shock to the many friends by whom he was enthusiastically received in this city last week. Gen. Lee came here to officially invite the state to take part in the Jamestown exposition of 1907. He visited the state house and was warmly welcomed both by those who knew him personally and by those who knew only his record. On Wednesday he attended a session of the house and was cordially greeted. Yesterday he appeared before the committee on federal relations, to which he presented his mission, and made a long address which greatly interested the committee.

Up to the time that Gen. Lee left for Washington last night he appeared in good health and excellent spirits. He took occasion to remark that he had greatly enjoyed his stay in this city and believed that his trip had been a successful one.

UNION OF CHURCHES BLOCKED BY NO QUORUM

Owing to the lack of a quorum, a meeting of the trustees of Trinity Methodist Protestant church of Allegheny, called for yesterday noon to take final action on the proposition of union with the First Congregational church, Franklin and Manhattan streets, Allegheny, was adjourned until again called to meet by the chairman. There seems little doubt that the congregation will merge and worship in Trinity church, after which, it is said, the Congregational church, which is valued at $40,000, will be sold to the congregation of the Manchester Presbyterian church.

MAKING CHANGES TO PROTECT LIFE

English Representative, Inspecting American Theaters, Sees Nixon.

FIRE LAWS MORE STRINGENT

"Since the disaster at the Iroquois theater in Chicago the authorities in England have become more stringent in the laws and regulations regarding fire protection in theaters, and many changes are being made in the construction of theaters of Great Britain," said J. D. Sutcliffe, representing two big theater syndicates of England and Scotland, at the Nixon last night. These two syndicates are the United Theaters Company and the Howard Wyndham Limited, and control about 22 playhouses.

Mr. Sutcliffe is in the United States for a month inspecting the principal theaters for the purpose of securing new ideas for improvements abroad.

"The authorities in Great Britain are requiring all theaters to have fireproof curtains and to install other safeguards. The majority of curtains there are of steel frames and asbestos several inches thick," said Mr. Sutcliffe.

"The greatest feature in theaters which I have seen in the United States is the incline which I have found at the Nixon in this city. It is unknown abroad and not seen in a theater in any other city of this country.

American Theaters Too Hot.

"In point of construction the Nixon is far ahead of any theater in the country, although the New Amsterdam in New York city closely approaches it in beauty. The incline is the finest thing I have seen anywhere and is a splendid device for comfort and safety. It is bound to be adopted in England and elsewhere.

"There are many points of difference in the construction and management of theaters in this country and England. One of the marked things that struck me in this country was the high temperature maintained in the theaters. Our people are more accustomed to out-door life, and they simply could not stand the temperature of an American theater. We never have our theaters heated over 60 degrees, while in the United States the temperature is never less than 70. English players are hardly able to stand it when they play here.

"I like the seating arrangement of the American theaters. In England the people are much more crowded, especially in the cheaper seats. One of the odd features of the English theaters, for which custom seems to be the only reason, is the placing of the cheapest seats on the first floor, immediately in the rear of the 'stalls,' which are the most expensive seats in the house.

Cheap Seats Near Front.

"People who pay only 25 cents for a seat are immediately behind others who pay $2 apiece for their seats. In the stalls the upper class sit, and no person can enter the stalls unless in evening dress, whether man or woman. Most English theaters have two balconies and a gallery. The first balcony contains the seats next in price to the 'stalls' and in the upper balcony are the moderate priced seats. In the gallery are cheap seats again.

"The English people are not very strong just now for the serious dramas. The musical comedies are popular and are becoming more so every day. In fact the music halls with their attractions are making serious inroads into the profits of the theaters. The Scotch people, of course, prefer the more serious plays."

Mr. Sutcliffe said he had learned many things and seen much in this country which would be useful as innovations at home. He has been in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, and goes to Cincinnati, Chicago and back to New York and Boston. He said he had heard of the Nixon theater before he came to this country, and came to Pittsburgh especially to see it. He is paying particular attention to engineering features and mechanical effects.

EDWARD A. WOODS ISSUES LETTER ON EQUITABLE

Manager of Local Office of Society Makes Assuring Statements to Policy-Holders.

For the purpose of giving assurance to the many holders of Equitable Life Assurance society policies in this vicinity, Edward A. Woods, manager of the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable, yesterday issued a circular letter and a pamphlet to each person holding a policy in the society.

In the letter Mr. Woods asserts that the Equitable has been and must continue to be conducted upon the mutual plan, and in support of this statement shows in figures the amounts paid in dividends to the policy-holders in the past 10 years. Mr. Woods does not deny that personal bitterness among the men at the head of the big society has justified much that has been published lately, and although he mentions no names the following paragraph from the letter is significant:

"They do differ; but their difference is whether or not the society shall be controlled by its 60,000 policy-holders or by the stock, the majority of which is held by one man; in other words, whether or not the society shall be made completely mutual in fact, as it has always declared itself to be."

There is no cause for apprehension concerning the conclusion of the issue, in Mr. Woods' opinion, as he says the committee, headed by H. C. Frick and counselled by Senator Knox, will make a thorough inquiry and fortify the interests of the policy-holders. Mr. Woods declares that all the facts concerning the management of the Equitable should be made known to its policy-holders, and is sanguine in expressing his belief that the society will emerge safely from the present unpleasant confusion with no loss of strength or prestige.

SMALL MAN TERRORIZES STREET CAR PASSENGERS

Big Policeman Comes Along and Carries Him Off, Revolver and All.

Earl Warfel, aged 19, of Montour street, Allegheny, terrified the passengers on a Charleroi street car yesterday with a 32-caliber revolver. Warfel was intoxicated and was arrested at the entrance to the tunnel, by Policeman Daniel Walsh, and taken to the Mt. Washington station house.

Warfel boarded the car at Charleroi. After the car got under way he drew his revolver and drove the passengers to the front end of the car. The women were terrified and the men did not like the manner in which Warfel flourished the revolver about his head, while so greatly under the influence of liquor.

The conductor was also afraid to interfere. However, at a siding near Castle Shannon he telephoned the police and asked that an officer meet the car at the tunnel. At another siding Warfel decided that he had ridden far enough on the car and got off. The conductor had been annoyed too much to let Warfel escape arrest in that manner.

"Oh, come to town and have a good time," said the conductor to the unruly passenger.

"I will do that," said Warfel, and he boarded the car again.

Warfel acted worse than ever during the run to the tunnel. In spite of the fact he was less than five feet in height, he had things his own way on the car. When the tunnel was reached Policeman Walsh, who is 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 230 pounds, boarded the car, and with one hand lifted out Warfel, revolver and all, and practically carried him to the station house, to the satisfaction and relief of the passengers.

FRICK REASSURES POLICY-HOLDERS

Equitable Can Pay Maturing Contracts If It Never Writes Any More Insurance.

ITS INVESTMENTS ARE SOUND

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—H. C. Frick, chairman of the directors' committee investigating the Equitable Life Assurance society, has written a letter to the policyholders assuring them that the interest of every policy-holder is absolutely safe. Mr. Frick sets forth that the society's assets, which are in the possession of the committee, are absolutely sound; that the Equitable's investments have been conservatively made; that there are no charges made which, if true, would diminish the society's assets; that the society could meet in full all of its maturing policies even if it never wrote another dollar of insurance and that the investigating committee, commencing May 1, will hold daily sessions until its work is completed.

The letter, which is dated today, is as follows:

To the Policy-holders of the Equitable Life Assurance Society:

The members of the investigation committee have received a large number of letters from policy-holders making inquiries as to the solvency of the society, and in many cases desiring to know if the sums already paid to the society as premiums on policies were endangered or lost.

The work of investigation, to be of value, must be done thoroughly. To do it thoroughly will necessarily take time. The committee is not ready to make its report, and cannot at this time anticipate its report.

In view of these inquiries from policy-holders, it seems proper for the committee to state that the interest of every policy-holder is absolutely safe. The assets of the society are in its possession. They have been examined in detail by the insurance commissions of many states. They are absolutely sound; indeed, one of the criticisms of the society's management has been that in its investments it has been conservative to the point of not realizing a sufficiently high rate of interest on its funds.

If the investigation should sustain the gravest charges made by anyone against the society it would simply mean that in the past the society had not realized all that it might possibly have realized under a different management of its affairs. There are no charges made which, if true, would diminish the society's assets.

The integrity of every one of the society's contracts is absolutely unimpaired. It might be well in this connection to add that while assessment societies and fraternal organizations require the constant addition of new risks to meet their obligations on old ones the Equitable, like all other old-line companies, could meet in full all of its maturing policies even if it never wrote another dollar of insurance.

The investigating committee, commencing Monday, May 1, will hold daily sessions until its work is completed.

(Signed) H. C. FRICK, Chairman.

It was rumored in Wall street today that Gage E. Tarbell would shortly resign as vice president of the Equitable and would form a new company with a capital of $10,000,000. He would be the directing genius of the new company. It was also hinted that if Mr. Alexander would resign from the Equitable, he would be the president of the new company, and Tarbell the vice president.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—(Special.)—Attorney General Mayer today gave Senator Brackett a formal order allowing him to begin an action in Saratoga county in behalf of Mrs. Mary S. Young against the Equitable society. Senator Brackett will serve a summons and complaint upon the corporation, which will have 20 days in which to answer. Senator Brackett says that among those who will be made co-defendants are James H. Hyde, Jacob H. Schiff, Senator Chauncey M. Depew, Edward H. Harriman and any others who are connected with the financial transactions of the society, either through a firm name or individually.

H. H. Knowles dined tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria with a party of friends, to whom he expressed his confidence in the ultimate victory of Mr. Hyde over his enemies. He insisted that, in attacking Tarbell and disclosing the plans of the second vice president, he had only told what he will be called on to report before the Frick committee when that body begins the work of examining witnesses May 1.

"I will stand upon all I have said under oath before the committee," said Mr. Knowles, "and it is not improbable that I may tell more than I have already told. For instance, I may tell about the petition which was signed by all of the officers of the society, except Mr. Hyde, on Tuesday morning, February 7, and how this was the third petition which had been prepared for presentation to Mr. Hyde, requesting him to retire. We had signed two such documents on February 3.

"When we were called into the secretary's office by the president and Mr. Tarbell to sign the second petition we were told the reason for the substitution was that the first petition contained an implied threat, in that it stated that signers would all resign unless Mr. Hyde was forced out by the board of directors at its meeting on February 7."

BULLET FOR ONE MAN; THE ROPE FOR ANOTHER

Despondency and Brain Trouble Are Alleged Motive for a Couple of Suicides.

John Schwab, aged 42, proprietor of the Combination Engine Company, 3148 Penn avenue, committed suicide last night by shooting himself while in the attic of his home at 312 Forty-fifth street. He was despondent. His brother, Henry, who broke into the house, found him with a bullet in his temple. It is said Schwab had been drinking for several days. His wife and children left his home a few days ago, it is claimed.

John Thompson, Jr., aged 35, a farmer of Patton township, yesterday committed suicide by hanging himself to a rafter in a barn. It is said the dead man suffered from brain trouble as a result of scarlet fever, of which he had an attack three years ago. It was his second attempt to kill himself. About two years ago he cut his throat with a knife.

Attorneys John Marron and R. H. Jackson have been retained by the family of W. DeForest Lappe, aged 19, who was shot and killed by Policeman Rufus Ullum Tuesday morning. Coroner Armstrong will hold the inquest in the case Wednesday. Charles O. Lappe, father of the dead boy, believes the case should be thoroughly investigated, and for that reason employed attorneys to carry on the prosecution.

The body of a man, supposed to be James Collins of Springdale, was found in the Allegheny river at the foot of Forty-third street last night. Collins has been missing from his home for several weeks. He was 60 years old.

An inquest was held yesterday into the death of Dante Rainaldi, aged 9, who was killed by a street car in Liberty avenue last week. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death, and exonerated the motorman from responsibility.

John C. McCoy, aged 54, of 1728 Ann street, died at Mercy hospital yesterday from injuries received while at work at the Jones & Laughlin mills on April 15 by being struck by a flywheel.

E. J. Lohman, aged 40, died at Mercy hospital yesterday from injuries received by being struck by a street car in Swissvale Friday night. It is not known where he lives.

PLANS FILED FOR FIRST DAY AND NIGHT BANK

DR. GLADDEN HAS LAWYER ON HIP

THANKS HIM FOR THE CHANCE

COLUMBUS, O., April 28.—The Rev. Dr. Gladden tonight gave out the following statement in reply to the assertion of Starr J. Murphy of private counsel for John D. Rockefeller that statements made by Dr. Gladden were based on garbled reports of Mr. Rockefeller's testimony in the courts:

Mr. Murphy charges me with garbling the testimony of Mr. Rockefeller. He alleges that when his testimony was given there were two companies under discussion, "The Southern Improvement Company" and "The South Improvement Company;" that Mr. Rockefeller's answer related to the first-named company and was a true answer, because with that company Mr. Rockefeller had nothing to do.

I have searched the records to which Mr. Murphy cites me, and can find but one company with a name like this upon the record of the session laws of Pennsylvania for 1870 and 1871. It is possible such a charter may have been granted, but no such company was incorporated on the day he names—May 6, 1871. No such title is in the index of that volume. The only company I can find bearing the name similar to this which was incorporated within those two years was "The Southern Improvement Company."

This, in fact, was the name of the company whose charter was purchased by Mr. Rockefeller and his friends. It appears from the records and the memoranda published afterwards that it was called at the beginning sometimes "The Southern Improvement Company" and sometimes "The South Improvement Company." It was often referred to by its own officials as "The Southern Improvement Company."

It does not appear from the records of the investigation in which Mr. Rockefeller was a witness that any mention had been made of two companies with similar names. It does not appear that Gen. Prior, who was asking these questions, had ever heard of two companies. He was asking questions about one company, sometimes called "Southern" and sometimes called "South" Improvement Company, of which Mr. Rockefeller had been a trustee. He called it by the names by which it had been known by its officers and by the public.

Mr. Rockefeller must have known this was the company to which he referred. He answered the questions, knowing what the questions meant. Mr. Prior had been inquiring about the organization of the Standard Oil Company. Here are the questions and answers:

"When was this trust formed?"

"In January, 1888."

"Had there been, previous to that, a trust company called the Southern Improvement Company?"

"No, sir."

"There was such a company?"

"I have heard of such a company."

"You were not in it?"

"I was not."

It is certain, therefore, that Mr. Rockefeller must have known to what company this question referred, and that he intended under oath to convey, and did convey, the meaning that he was not a member of a company of which he was a member.

This is the simple fact, and I am greatly obliged to Mr. Murphy for the opportunity he has given me of making it entirely clear.

WORKMEN AT HOMESTEAD GET ADVANCE IN WAGES

Receive First Intimation of Good News When They Draw Their Checks at Pay Car.

All of the salaried men and day workers at the Homestead mills, Carrie blast furnaces and Howard axle works of the Carnegie Steel Company were given advances in wages ranging from 5 to 10 per cent on April 1, but were not made aware of the advance until yesterday, when they discovered the increase in the checks at the pay car. It is estimated that about 5,000 of the 7,000 men at the plants were given the advance, the tongue men alone receiving no increase.

The men at the mills had been anticipating the advance after it was learned that the Braddock workmen had secured their raise. No notice had been posted by the steel company of the advance, and this led many to believe that no advance would be given.

When the advance was received the men were delighted, and business in Homestead was better than it has been for many months.

The cranemen, laborers, repair gangs and riggers were increased 10 cents a day, and the carpenters from 5 to 10 cents over their last pay. The increase for the transportation department's blacksmiths and machinists is 15 cents a day, other increases being as follows: Yardmasters, 20 cents; molders, 1½ cents an hour; water carriers, 5 cents.

M'CABE FAVORS UNION.

Methodist Episcopal Bishop Comes Out Strongly for Uniting Two Wings of Methodism.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 28.—"I want to be quoted to the people and to the bishops of the Southern church, who are now in session only a few squares from here, as in favor of restoring the organic union of the two branches of Methodism," said Bishop McCabe of Philadelphia, at the meeting of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in Trinity chapel today. The bishops extended an invitation to luncheon tomorrow to the southern bishops, and it was accepted.

On the report of a committee appointed to consider the case of the Woman's college, Baltimore, the bishops have decided to take up ways and means of raising money to clear the institution of debt. About $250,000 will be required. The institution is enrolling 500 students, and has buildings worth $1,500,000.

YALE MAY CLAIM CARNEGIE'S FUND

DR. M'MASTER VOICES DISSENT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., April 28.—Surprise is expressed here because of a remark attributed to F. A. Vanderlip, treasurer of Andrew Carnegie's $10,000,000 pension fund for college professors, that there has been some question as to Yale university's share in the provisions of the fund on the ground of being a sectarian institution.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Ray Palmer of the Yale corporation said today: "It is not true that Yale is in any sense a sectarian institution. The foundation for the thought of possible discrimination probably arises from the fact that a number of the members of the corporation are clergymen. There is no provision, however, that they be only of the Congregational denomination."

ANN ARBOR, MICH., April 28.—"This gift of Andrew Carnegie's as an endowment fund for professors who have grown old in the service of colleges and universities strikes me as a very proper philanthropy provided it be wisely administered," said President Angell of the University of Michigan today. "It does not seem to me that it would need to lower any man's feeling of independence to accept such aid. I should scarcely care to call it a charity, in fact."

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Dr. John Bach McMaster, who holds the chair of history at the University of Pennsylvania, expressed himself as directly opposed to the principle of the Carnegie gift today. Said he:

I don't like it. I don't believe in this scattering of Carnegie libraries over the country. It is not a good thing, and I don't like Mr. Carnegie's methods.

In the first place, I do not believe in pension systems in general, and I am especially opposed to them in the teaching profession. It would be practically the same thing as the police pensioning, and it could not help but lower the profession.

When one of us enters the teaching profession we do not do it with the expectation of making money; we have an entirely different end in view. This pension system would certainly lower our standard. I believe that in this and in all professions, as in business, each man should stand on his own basis and on that alone.

Personally, I would not accept such a pension, but I think that it might prove acceptable to the majority of the profession. I am speaking only for myself. We have "Carnegie libraries," and "Carnegie heroes," now we are to have "Carnegie professors." I don't like it.

Dr. Charles Gustis Harrison, provost of the university, as the representative administrative officer of the institution, took an entirely different view of the matter and seemed much pleased with Mr. Carnegie's generosity.

LANCASTER, April 28.—(Special.)—Andrew Carnegie, through his representative today offered Franklin and Marshall college $30,000 towards the endowment fund or $37,000 for a new academy building, conditionally that the college raise an equal amount. The trustees accepted the latter offer and took steps for raising the amount needed.

THE HAGUE, April 28.—The government of The Netherlands proposes to give the Carnegie fund $280,000 to purchase the ground on which will be erected the Palace of Peace, for which Mr. Carnegie donated $1,500,000. The site comprises an area of 12 acres, and is the property of the Zoological Garden Society.

TRUANT SYSTEM SCORED BY THE JUVENILE COURT

Widow Tells Pitiful Tale of Being Harassed and Denied Needy Services of Her Young Son.

How the application of the truancy law can have dire effects under certain circumstances, was revealed in juvenile court yesterday, before Judge Frazer, in the case of Willie Wright, aged 12, of Allegheny, and as a result of the story told by the widowed mother of the boy, the court severely criticized the truancy department of the Allegheny schools for not making more thorough investigation before bringing cases into court.

The lad's mother, who has three smaller children than the one appearing in court, stated that her husband had been sick 15 weeks before he died, and that during his illness she kept the boy at home to take care of the three younger children while she nursed her dying husband. For this, she says, she was sued and fined for keeping the boy from school, and has since been fined for the same reason. Since her husband's death she was forced to keep the boy at home to watch over his little brothers and sisters while she sought work. The boy was then placed in the truant school by Supt. John Morrow of the Allegheny schools, and Mrs. Wright stated that she told Mr. Morrow the necessity for keeping the boy at home, but he declared that the boy would have to attend to his studies. This was followed by bringing the boy into court.

Judge Frazer was surprised at the story and, as it was not denied, he ordered the release of the boy to his mother's care, advising her to send him to school as much as possible. He then gave Truant Officer William Beazey a talk on the proper application of the truancy act.

Postpones His Trip Because Ill.

Alderman Stephen J. Toole of the First ward was stricken with a fainting spell while conducting a case at his office, 301 Wood street, yesterday, and had to be taken home. A physician who called said he must give up all work at once. The alderman is suffering from stomach trouble, and had intended to go to Atlantic City for a rest. He was too ill to make the trip yesterday, but will probably leave for the seashore today.

Three persons were injured during the street fighting today. They are: H. R. Brown, negro non-union teamster, beaten unconscious; Samuel Bradshaw, negro, non-union teamster, struck on the head with a piece of iron and knocked unconscious, and Bud Moore, a negro boy, sitting on one of the wagons of Marshall Field & Co., struck on the right arm with a brick, arm broken.

Steady progress has been reported by the Employers' Teaming association in securing men to take the places of the strikers and it is predicted by the employers that before many days they will have their business back to a normal basis.

Fear was expressed today that President Roosevelt will be obliged to cancel his engagement for a reception and banquet by the Hamilton and Iroquois clubs on his return from the west.

Two innocent bystanders were shot and severely injured tonight by Charles King, a non-union driver for the Pacific Express Company. King was on a Blue Island street car, when strikers boarded the car and attacked him. King drew a revolver and emptied it at his assailants. He shot none of them who attacked him, but the bullets struck Joseph Ziegler and Patrick Enright. King was arrested.

The first spread of the strike into the building trades occurred tonight, when 300 carpenters, plumbers and electrical workers employed in the construction of two additional stories on the store building of The Fair walked out. They said that they were asked to work with non-union men. All of the unions to which the strikers belong will be asked to support the strike.

Prompt arrival of Lieut. O'Toole and 20 police officers tonight saved 20 private policemen and non-union drivers from injury when they took several wagons loaded with coal to the Majestic hotel. A colored driver was dragged from his wagon and beaten.

A riot call was turned in, and when Lieut. O'Toole and his men arrived they found the detectives and the drivers facing 3,000 persons. The officers charged through the mob, using clubs freely. Several drivers and detectives were slightly cut, and many of the strikers and their sympathizers were battered up until the mob was dispersed, after 15 minutes' work by the police.

BIGELOW AGAIN BADLY BEATEN

Fails a Second Time to Put Through His Slated Council Committee.

LARKIN WILL NOT PAY BILL

Director Bigelow met with the worst defeat in several years in common council yesterday afternoon when that body again smashed his slate of special committeemen to entertain the river and harbors committee of congress next month. By a vote of 29 to 15 common council defeated the motion to discharge the anti-Bigelow committee appointed by the body at the previous meeting on Monday night.

Not only did the opposition prevent Director Bigelow naming the five members from common council on the entertainment committee, but it was instrumental in keeping Select Councilman Charles H. West off the committee, although Director Bigelow had slated Mr. West for chairman of the committee. The four members of select council, appointed by President Wightman, are Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., P. J. Barry, J. J. Booth and Frederick Fichtel. The five members of the committee from common council are William Brand, W. A. Martin, J. J. McKelvey, Richard McNally and W. A. Collins.

The committee will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to organize. Select Councilman Wainwright will probably be chosen chairman.

Larkin Will Not Pay.

The resolution authorizing the appointment of the committee also appropriates $5,000 to pay the expenses of the entertainment out of the contingent fund, and transfers this amount from two other funds to the contingent fund—$2,500 from the street repaving fund and $2,500 from the Point bridge fund.

Controller Larkin, it is stated, will refuse to pay the money out of the contingent fund until councils pass a separate bill transferring the money.

Dr. H. B. Burns raised the point in select council, when the resolution was being considered yesterday in that branch, that it was illegal because it violated the rules providing that a bill shall not contain more than one subject and that it must be clearly expressed in the title.

Dr. Burns claimed the bill contained three subjects—authorizing the appointment of a joint committee of councils, the appropriation of money and the transfer of the money. President Wightman said City Solicitor Rodgers had passed upon the bill, and had declared it to be legal. Mr. Burns said, however, he intended to submit a copy of the resolution and also his contention to the city solicitor.

Must Pass Another Resolution.

If the controller refuses to pay out any money under the resolution, and another resolution is not adopted by councils immediately the members of the committee will be personally liable for any expenses incurred in making preparations to receive the congressmen. The party of congressmen is to arrived in Pittsburgh on May 8, only a week from next Monday. The city is planning to pay the hotel bills of the party, to bear the cost of an elaborate banquet at the Hotel Schenley and to give the visitors an excursion by rail and steamboat to the manufacturing plants of the Pittsburgh district during the two days they are in the city.

The controller gave notice that a separate resolution for the transfer of the $5,000 to the contingent fund would have to be adopted by councils, and the controller expected Director Bigelow would have the resolution introduced in councils yesterday.

The meeting of common council yesterday was called at the instance of Director Bigelow for the express purpose of upsetting what the body had done on Monday night, when Director Bigelow was out of the city, and when his lieutenants were managing affairs alone. On Monday night the committee opposed by the director was chosen by a vote of 21 to 18.

Members Were Angry.

The vote yesterday against the motion to discharge this committee, being 15 ayes and 29 noes, showed a worst defeat for the director than the first, although he was in the mayor's office during the proceedings and in close touch with affairs. A thing that aroused the anger of the Citizens members of the opposition and made them all the more zealous in "standing by their guns" was the announcement that they were expected to "eat crow" yesterday and submit to Director Bigelow's wishes. The plan of the opposition yesterday was first to break a quorum, but, when noses were counted and it was found that they had a safe majority, they decided to go into a meeting and fight the matter out.

The opposition gained half a dozen or more recruits since Monday night, while Director Bigelow gained two Republicans—C. C. Kohne and Dr. A. M. Barr. Barr and Kohne voted with the other Republicans on Monday night, but yesterday voted for the Bigelow program to discharge the committee which they helped to create on Monday night.

Bole and Brand Clash.

The motion to discharge the committee was made by D. J. Bole, and caused an exchange of acrid personalities between Mr. Bole and Mr. Brand. Mr. Brand objected to the motion because the committee had not performed its duties. He said the motion was an insult to the committee, and claimed the members were as fully competent to receive congressmen as other members who aspired to be on the committee, although they might be of humbler vocations and might not be able to wear as good clothes.

Mr. Bole said it was not a matter of good clothes or ability, but was a matter of courtesy to President Ward, who was not present at the meeting Monday night or yesterday. He said council had adopted a resolution authorizing the president to appoint the committee, and then had taken the power out of the president's hands by adopting a motion appointing the committee itself.

Mr. Brand got Mr. Bole to admit that the president pro tem has full power to perform the duties of the president when the latter is absent.

"When the gentleman from the Nineteenth ward says that we ignored the president of common council or that council has not the power to direct the president pro tem to appoint a special committee he tells what is not true," said Mr. Brand.

Bole's Shot at Chair.

"I want the gentleman of the Seventeenth ward to take back what he said about me not telling the truth or prove his assertion. I am just as truthful and my character and standing in the community is just as high as that of the gentleman of the Seventeenth ward," retorted Mr. Bole. "There was never a dirtier or more underhand piece of business transacted in councils than at the last meeting when this committee was appointed. If President R. B. Ward had been in the chair at that meeting, do you suppose that the motion to appoint this committee would have gone before the body?"

This last remark was a shot at President Pro Tem McKelvey, who presided at the previous meeting, and who was one of the members appointed on the committee. Mr. Bole's allusion to Mr. McKelvey caused a laugh, in which Mr. McKelvey joined. Mr. Brand called Mr. Bole to order for thus referring to the chair, but Mr. McKelvey allowed Mr. Bole to continue.

"It is an outrage that the 52 members of this body should be called here just to reconsider the appointment of an ordinary every-day reception committee," said W. H. Johns. "Common council acted regularly, and it would have been impossible for President Ward to have appointed the committee except he had done so by telegraph, because he was not in the city at the last meeting and is not in the city today."

William McKelvey Sarcastic.

C. C. Kohne, Republican, who had voted for the committee at the previous meeting, declared he was in favor of appointing any committee that the mayor wanted.

The vote taken on the motion to discharge the committee resulted as follows:

Ayes—Barr, Bockstoce, Bole, Dengler, Frankel, Gulland, Hammer, Kohne, Lauth, Maslowski, Mathews, Porter, Roenigk, Wells, Zuegg—15.

Noes—Bailey, Barton, Bergmann, Bonini, Brand, Bright, Collins, Cromiller, Finerty, Gibbon, Girdwood, Hughes, Johns, Kalchthaler, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Moore, Myers, McKelvey, McKnight, McNally, Perley, Pfannkuch, Semmelrock, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace—29.

The resolution authorizing the presidents of councils to appoint the entertainment committee was adopted in select council by a vote of 23 to 4, the four members voting in the negative being William McKelvey, H. B. Burns, Dr. Weber and Max Friedman.

"Does this resolution give you the right to appoint members of this committee from this branch?" inquired William McKelvey of President Wightman.

"It does," replied Mr. Wightman.

"Then I vote no," said Mr. McKelvey.

Select council passed a large number of street improvement bills and other miscellaneous measures which were passed by common council Monday night.

The ordinance authorizing 69 additional employes in the bureau of filtration was held up because the administration failed to obtain the necessary three-fourths vote on a suspension of rules so that the bill could be put on second reading. The vote on suspension of the rules was 25 ayes and 17 noes.

Previous to this Mr. Brand had moved that action on the bill be postponed until the next meeting, and Morris Knowles, chief engineer of the filtration bureau, be notified to be present to explain to council the necessity for the additional employes. When this motion was defeated, by a vote of 18 to 15, Mr. Brand and his followers opposed suspension of the rules.

COMING TO PITTSBURGH TO GET INFORMATION

Columbus Officials Will Learn in This City How Not to Build a Filter Plant.

Seventy-five councilmen and officials of Columbus, O., are coming to Pittsburgh by way of Cincinnati, to inspect this city's filtration plant. Every preparation is being made to receive them in a manner befitting the occasion.

At Cincinnati the party will investigate the work which has been under way there for the past five years. That city believes it is going to have filtered water if it lives long enough. After looking at the great hole in the ground which Keeling & Ridge of this city are digging for the Queen city folk at California, O., a few miles above Cincinnati, the party will board the steamer Virginia and make a leisurely trip up the river.

Gallipolis is said to have a filter plant which is second to none, and some hours will be spent there, studying filtration. From Gallipolis to Marietta is a nice run and Marietta has a natural filtering plant. At Marietta island a number of wells have been sunk and the water of the Ohio is furnished from them. After viewing this plant the party will come to Pittsburgh.

Controller Larkin is making every preparation to receive the councilmen. Special police will be sworn in to act as guards, and under their watchful eyes the visitors will be allowed to look at the money which Pittsburgh has provided for a filtration plant, and which is still lying in the official banks. From the banks they will be taken to the office of Morris Knowles, where they will be shown the office force which is to help spend the money that is in the banks. If they are good, Mr. Knowles will also show them a superb collection of blue prints. Several ordinances for the increase of salaries of filtration experts and the enlargement of the force, will also be exhibited. Controller Larkin will then display to the astonished eyes of the visitors the briefs in his several suits on this subject, and the opinions of the learned courts regarding the same.

After being enlightened thus far the visitors, under an injunction of strict secrecy, will be taken up the Allegheny valley and allowed to look at the farm land which has been purchased as a site for the filter plant. It has not been determined whether to allow this view from the south side of the river, looking across at the farm, or to allow the Columbus people to actually set foot on this high-priced real estate. That is one of the details for their entertainment which has not yet been determined upon.

The visit is expected to prove of the greatest benefit to the Buckeye capital people, as it will instruct them in the passage of bond issues, and how not to build a filtration plant. Exhibit A, the sight of the money in bank, is believed to be the most important of all, and no effort will be spared to impress them with the magniture of the sum, providing, of course, that a sufficiently secure guard can be placed around the deposits. A little lesson in the geology of finance is to be given here, and it will be explained to them that these deposits are of the Bigelonian age, and that scientists do not expect to find any remains of them after they have been thoroughly explored.

ALL FOR DR. MOFFAT.

Western Pennsylvania Commissioners to General Assembly Will Try to Make Him Moderator.

The last meeting of the Pittsburgh presbytery before the meeting of the Presbyterian General assembly in Winona Lake, and the first meeting of the presbytery in the new Sixth Presbyterian church, Wightman and Forbes streets, will be held next Tuesday. The commissioners to the assembly will be given their commissions. The delegation is a unit for the Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat, for moderator of the assembly.

The commissioners from Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Blairsville, Redstone and Kittanning presbyteries are likely to be cited to appear before the assembly's standing committee on publication to explain their nullification action in cutting loose from the board and advising their churches to withhold their contributions.

The Second Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg will report no progress in the choice of a pastor. The congregation is entirely satisfied with the ministrations of the Rev. Dr. David R. Breed, the present supply of the vacant pulpit.

The board of colportage has decided to take no action in the matter of a successor to the late W. W. Waters, as superintendent of the Presbyterian book store. The movement to endow the store is not making marked progress.

TO PUSH OLEO DEALERS.

State Authorities May Proceed by Means of Injunctions Against Those Who Are Breaking Law.

Certain dealers in Allegheny county who are openly defying the state laws regulating the traffic in oleomargarine may be confronted with injunctions at an early date to prevent them from coloring the product to resemble butter. Reports from Harrisburg indicate that the crusade in Western Pennsylvania was decided on at a conference held in Harrisburg Wednesday.

The Pittsburgh attorney of the state dairy and food commission is H. W. McIntosh, and the special agent for the commission in Allegheny county is H. L. Banzoff. If the crusade is begun here it will be carried on along the lines employed in Philadelphia for several years. Much of the oleomargarine sold as butter is colored with coal tar dye.

Six Fall from a Scaffold.

Two men were seriously injured, and four others received slight bruises by the fall of scaffolding on a new building in Sassafras street, upon which they were working yesterday morning. William Patterson, residing in Forty-sixth street, was hurt, about the back and had his right wrist broken, and Henry Enfield of 4210 Post street had his left wrist broken.

$7.50 Tan Covert Coats for $4.50.

For Girls, Ages 4 Years to 12.

Just arrived late last evening—ready this morning.

You can have box style or belted style.

Just the smartest little coats that ever helped to dress a young girl smartly.

Light weight covert cloth, mind, such coats as are found to be handy pretty much any month through the Summer.

We dislike continually asking you to be early, but really in this case we must emphasize the hint, for there are not a great many of the coats.

Good Clothing for Boys That Is Not Expensive.

That is the principle we always bear in mind in our Boys' Clothing Department. In our way of thinking it is the height of folly to buy clothes for boys that is not thoroughly sound in every respect, even though the price be ridiculously small. In a few weeks it is gone—no looks to it, no wear, no satisfaction to the boys, inasmuch as he is often blamed for being more than usually hard on his clothes, when the fact is, it is not his, but that of the maker of the suit or overcoat. Below we give a few specimens of the inexpensive prices we ask for really good clothing:

Boys' Tan Covert Topcoats, fine material well tailored, a dress coat, yet built to stand service, sizes 8 to 16 years. These coats would be low priced at $10.00, very special at $7.50.

Boys' double-breasted Fancy Suits, in gray, brown and tan cheviots and homespuns—sizes 6 to 16 years, $5.00 and 6.00.

Boys' 75c and 85c Trousers, fancy cheviots and homespuns, sizes 5 to 16 years, special at 50c.

New Veils and Veilings.

If you want to know what are the latest fads in veils ask to see the novelties at our Veiling Counter. We always have the novelties as well as the staple kinds and colors in Brussels, Tuxedo and Hairline Net.

New Lace Veils with pretty embroidered spots and borders, black, white, navy and brown, $1.50 each.

Crepe finish Chiffon Veilings, all the new as well as the staple shades, 50c, 60c, 75c a yard.

Special line of plain hairline meshes, black, white and colors, regular 25c veiling for 15c a yard.

Late Style Ribbons—Less Prices.

This assortment contains both plain and fancy ribbons, including Satin Taffeta, Plain Taffeta, Mousseline, Taffeta Brilliants, Fancy Stripes, Checks and Pompadour designs, 3½ to 6½ inches wide—

There is food for thought in the published remarks of Factory Inspector O'Donnell. He tells of conditions in his district that cannot be regarded as sanitary, by the most liberal interpretation of the term. Nearly a hundred families in one house, no family having more than one room, constitutes a congestion of population that cannot well be exceeded. Yet it is not as shocking a picture as that of boarding houses where twenty or more persons sleep in the same room. The conditions in the latter case are certainly such as call for legal prohibition.

Now that Assistant Secretary of State Loomis has explained, some explanation appears to be due from Minister Bowen, too. It would seem that he readily credited the reports derogatory to Mr. Loomis which were circulated in Caracas and sent them to Secretary Taft in a personal letter. A Washington dispatch reports that Secretary Taft is now thinking of ordering Minister Bowen to come to Washington to explain the matter. It is not likely in any event that Minister Bowen will remain much longer at Caracas. His usefulness there appears to have been exhausted.

A curious technical defense has been resorted to in the case of one of the defendants in the timber fraud cases. His counsel holds that he can not be tried in Washington as the District of Columbia has no real existence as a legal entity, inasmuch as the state of Maryland had no rightful authority to cede the lands which constitute the district. If such a point could be upheld it would efface a number of state boundaries, as much of the territory occupied by the middle western states was ceded to the national government by eastern states. It is a remarkable instance of the extent to which legal technicalities may be carried.

Mystery surrounds the disaster in the Eleanore shaft by which twelve miners were killed. It is obvious that there was a terrible explosion, but the mine officials are positive that it was not caused by gas and this view of the case is supported by the fact that the injury done was limited to the immediate vicinity of the explosion and other miners at work had no difficulty in getting out. The theory thought most probable is that a charge put in a hole blew out so that the miners at work there were killed as if by a fiery blast from a cannon. If this be so the accident was a preventable one and would not have occurred had proper care been exercised.

Chairman Frick of the directors investigating committee has issued a reassuring statement to the policy-holders which confirms what The Gazette has been saying, namely, that the assets of the Equitable society are ample to ensure the performance of all its contracts even if it never wrote another dollar of insurance. Whatever dereliction there may have been they have not impaired its financial strength. If there have been abuses they will be uncovered, but the work of investigation will necessarily take time. Meanwhile it is certain that the interest of every policy-holder is safe. Beginning on May 1 the investigating committee will hold daily sessions until its work is completed. It should be remembered that the state commissioner of insurance is also making an investigation and there can be no doubt that the affairs of the society will receive a thorough overhauling and any questionable transactions will be brought to light.

It seems to be the characteristic of Chicago strikes that the most extensive have the smallest origin. The Pullman strike during President Cleveland's administration led to an effort to tie up the railroads. The teamsters' strike now raging did not originate in any dispute of the teamsters themselves over terms of employment, but in a strike of garment workers. It is the nature of the sympathetic strike to spread indefinitely, as it allows no neutral ground for any business interest to stand upon and everyone must either make common cause with the strikers or fall under the boycott like the others. Thus the inevitable result is to force all employing interests to stand together for their common defense and also to array public sentiment against the strikers, for the general public cannot see any justice in striking against employers who have nothing to do with the original dispute and no power to adjust it. Hence the sympathetic strike is foredoomed to failure. This is fully recognized by wise labor leaders, but their counsels are too often disregarded. At present there are unhappy indications of a spirit of disorder which will lead to collisions with the authorities. The federal authorities are already involved, as the United States circuit court has enjoined the teamsters' union from interfering with the business of the employers' association.

Preventable Hazards.

Incidental to the investigation into the deaths of the ten miners who were dropped down the Conyngham shaft near Wilkesbarre, the mine inspectors intimate that radical measures will be taken to prevent similar accidents in the future. Radical action ought to be taken and close supervision should be maintained. In the Conyngham case the men were precipitated to the bottom of the deep shaft by the breaking of the rope used for hoisting and lowering the cage. The rope must have been defective and it appears probable so radical a defect as would not sustain the weight of ten men might have been detected.

Accidents will happen in the best regulated mines. Coal mining will hardly ever be rated by accident companies as an avocation in the "preferred class." Certain dangers are inseparable from the industry. Weak hoisting ropes cannot be included among these. It is possible to keep the hoisting apparatus in good condition and no miner should be permitted to descend a shaft when any part of it is under suspicion of weakness. Ropes and pulleys, engines and clutches should be objects of constant observation and utmost care.

There is as much reason for care and legal regulation in the operation of mine hoists as in the running of passenger elevators and inclined planes. Their very nature makes the slightest negligence or inattention hazardous. The mere fact that a miner's occupation is hazardous should be a reason for reducing the preventable dangers rather than for indifference to them.

Private vs. Public Control.

There is great excitement in Philadelphia over the proposition to lease the city gas plant to a corporation without any stipulation for a reduction in the price of gas. The proposal is on the basis of $25,000,000 cash for a lease for 75 years. The lease carries with it a monopoly of the sale of illuminating gas in the city, though it does not appear to preclude the establishment of private gas plants by individuals or firms who might desire to supply themselves.

We cannot undertake to say whether the compensation offered for the Philadelphia plant is adequate. It is reasonable to assume it offers great possibilities for profit to the leasing corporation. This assumption implies, however, the ability of a private corporation to extract more profit from the business than the municipal corporation has obtained. There have been periods in the history of the Philadelphia gas plant when the balances were all on the wrong side of the ledger. There have been times when it earned interest on the investment and times when there was a surplus. These profits were thrown into the common revenues of the city and it would now be difficult to say whether the plant has a net debit or credit account with the city. It is quite reasonably certain the profits, if any, have not been equal to the sum offered for the 75-year lease.

Gas making has been greatly cheapened by the use of petroleum products. Gas oil and naphtha are as important to the manufacturers as coal. Philadelphia has profited from the new processes by a reduction in the price of gas, but not any greater extent than cities supplied by private corporations enjoying exclusive franchises. Municipal ownership in this instance has been of no benefit to the public. It has been attended by the usual lax management attaching to such public enterprises. Private ownership, or management, as provided for by the ordinances, offer no apparent advantage to the public, but the proffered terms indicate a prospect for much larger returns to the operating company. It is simply another evidence of the superior efficiency of private over public control in the conduct of business enterprises.

Fuel Oil in Kansas.

Kansas oil producers have, at last, adopted a sensible plan. They are organizing to find a market for their low grade oil as fuel and if they drop the inflated idea that it should bring $1 a barrel at the wells, they may succeed in building up a good trade. The coal produced in Kansas is not of the best grade of bituminous, but in lump a ton is the equivalent to two-and-a-half barrels of oil. It is worth $1 40 a ton at the mines. Oil has the advantage in freight rates as its heat unit equivalent is less than a ton in weight. Oil at 50 or 60 cents a barrel should compete with coal on favorable terms.

In the interior of Kansas the price of coal sometimes goes very high. It ought to be possible for the oil men to work in that field to good advantage. The extent of their producing area assures a lasting supply and a willingness to make long-term contracts at low prices will encourage fuel consumers to change from coal, but the fancy price idea will have to be dropped to secure success.

Texas oil, from 22 to 28 degrees gravity, is selling at from 16 to 28 cents a barrel at wells. The present production—including the district about Jennings, La.—is about 150,000 barrels daily, one-half of which is being stored for lack of a market. The fuel value of this oil is almost equal to that of Kansas. In treating, preliminary to sale for fuel, the Kansas oil yields more naphtha and "gas oil" than that of Texas, but the latter yields more value in lubricant. Thus the by-products are nearly equal. The Texas fields are entirely in the hands of "independent" producers, pipe lines and refineries, so the value of their product is not being depressed by Standard Oil, whatever may be the case in Kansas. The existing tremendous overproduction of oil affords the best possible conditions for building up a market for fuel oil, violent fluctuations in prices having operated in former years to prevent consumers purchasing expensive apparatus for its use.

The Business Situation.

The demoralization which prevailed in the stock and grain markets this week, and which was accompanied by violent declines in values, should disturb no one except those who take a gambler's chance on the rise and fall in prices. For months past the price of the May wheat option in Chicago had been maintained above the parity of markets at home and abroad. It was entirely artificial and had a bad effect upon the legitimate grain trade. It made it possible for wheat producers less favorably situated than those of the United States to supply foreign consumers, and it increased the cost of bread to domestic consumers. When the government report appeared on the 10th inst., showing a high average condition of winter wheat, farmers who had been holding back their reserves awaiting definite information on this point, began to market their surplus. Speculators were compelled to make provision for taking care of increased supplies. The natural outlet, the foreign markets, was being blocked by supplies from other sources. With the threat of a congestion in the Chicago market the speculators who had attempted to maintain the artificial price were compelled to lighten their load. A break in prices was inevitable.

Speculators are human. It is easy to understand how, when they saw the game going against them, their fighting blood should be aroused. One can also understand how, with the public watching the contest, the speculators were spurred into making any sacrifice to win. This sacrifice took the form of selling stocks in order to obtain the cash to hold wheat. This selling will account for some of the decline in stocks. The remainder may be accounted for by the fact that what one group of speculators were attempting in wheat other groups were attempting in various stocks. The liquidation of the wheat speculators forced liquidation on the part of stock speculators. At this juncture another phase of human nature was manifested. Bona fide investors, seeing the predicament of the gamblers, stood aloof waiting the opportunity to take advantage of the extreme necessities of those who were throwing stocks overboard. This is the explanation for the disturbance witnessed in Wall street and in the grain pits during the past week. The general public is not seriously injured thereby, and it may be benefited by a restoration of normal values.

The general public is interested, however, in the means whereby such disturbances, and more particularly in commodity markets, are made possible. The revelations in connection with the First National bank of Milwaukee were a distinct shock, both on account of the previous standing of the defaulter and the magnitude of the defalcation. None of the "corners" that have been attempted in grain or cotton, and none of the scandalous promotions that have done much to weaken if not destroy public confidence in investments, would have been possible without the aid of bankers. We may go farther and assert that financial aid would not be extended to such undertakings if bankers did not expect to share in the profits. Law can insure neither sound judgment nor honesty, but the public may protect itself to a large extent by discriminating against institutions or individuals who are known to be interested in or affiliated with purely speculative operations.

In strong contrast to the artificial conditions prevailing in the stock and grain markets was the evidence of sound conditions prevailing in the iron trade furnished by the quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation. This showed that there is at this time on the books of the corporation unfilled orders for 5,600,000 tons of iron and steel, the largest total ever reported. These figures measure the confidence of the public in the future of this industry, which has so important an influence upon business in general.

Earthquake Victims.

Cable dispatches from India report that the deaths from the recent earthquakes number 15,000 and that over an area of 700 square miles nearly every building has collapsed. This implies that probably some famous products of Hindoo art have been ruined. The characteristics of that art are elegance and grace, and some famous monuments of it are extremely slender in their proportions. The column at Delhi, known as the Kuth Minar, which is one of the sights of the city continually visited by tourists, has a base only 47 feet in diameter, although its height is 240 feet. The shock does not appear to have been severe at Delhi, and there have been no reports of injury to its architectural monuments, but there can be little doubt that much irreparable loss to art treasures must have occurred in such an extensive area.

Although there have been great earthquakes before in this region, in one of which, occurring in 1737, 300,000 persons are said to have perished, it is not so subject to such disturbances as some other regions. On modern seismological maps India is not so deeply shaded as a center of disturbance as the Pacific coast of South America, but population is dense and in the cities are many high masonry houses of flimsy construction. It is to the fall of these, crushing the mud huts of the poor around them, that the chief loss of life is attributed. But the quakes were so heavy that well-constructed buildings went down also. Landslips in the hill country were also a great source of mortality.

Japan is more subject to earthquakes than any other country in the world. Records kept for a long time show that they take place at the rate of over a thousand a year, an average of over three daily. Under such circumstances the people get used to them and have learned how to put up buildings which will bear a hard shaking without collapse. Fortunately the United States is not within the usual region of earthquake disturbance, although light tremors are frequently felt on the Pacific slope, and the possibility of such disturbance on the Atlantic slope was indicated by the Charleston earthquake, which was distinctly felt in this city. The risk is, however, too remote to have any effect upon our style of building, but, although not introduced with such a purpose, the American method of steel-frame construction would seem to be well calculated to endure safely such strains as an earthquake produces.

President Roosevelt has decided to cut short his hunting trip, but has not announced whether it is Venezuela, the Chicago strike or the Colorado climate that has disturbed him.

Kansas City has, at last, passed an ordinance permitting the admission of natural gas. In a year or so Kansas City will wonder why it delayed so long.

Bullet Sneezed Up.

Col. Sidney G. Cooke, local manager of the Leavenworth Soldiers' home, probably is the only man in the world who ever sneezed a bullet out of his head. He was badly wounded at the battle of the Wilderness, a confederate bullet having penetrated his brain. He was taken prisoner and sent to Andersonville, after having his wound dressed by a doctor, who did not attempt to extract the bullet. Cooke recovered, and the lead in his "noggin" did not bother him at all. One day he commenced to sneeze and he nearly sneezed himself to death. He sneezed for 10 days. With the last sneeze came the bullet.—Leavenworth Times.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—The first bronze statue of William McKinley is rapidly nearing completion today in the studio of H. A. MacNeil in College Point, L. I. This is the memorial which is to be erected by the state of Ohio and the citizens of Columbus. It will stand on a prominent site in the state capitol grounds, Columbus. Mr. MacNeil expected when the work was awarded him to have all the figures, five in number, in the hands of the bronze workers before this. But he experienced a long delay in finding a model of the same physical proportions as the martyred president. Unable to wait longer for a model he began work a few months ago by draping one of Mr. McKinley's coats and vests over a plaster figure. While laboring in this difficult way one afternoon recently William A. Baumert, a former Tammany alderman from the old Twenty-fifth district, but who is now a near neighbor of the sculptor on the peaceful shores of College Point, walked into the studio. Immediately Vincenzo Angelo de Romeo, Mr. MacNeil's assistant, gave vent to an exclamation of joy. After he succeeded in quieting his excited assistant Mr. MacNeil learned that the usually silent man from Naples had suddenly discovered in the former Tammany alderman a striking resemblance to the figure of the dead president. Then Mr. MacNeil saw it and they got the former alderman a mirror, then he saw it himself.

"I will pose for you," said Mr. Baumert. And he was accepted at once. Mr. MacNeil could not have found a model so excellent. Of course, Mr. Baumert, who is regarded as one of the wealthiest residents of College Point, refused to accept any pay. Although a strong Democrat from the East Side districts of Manhattan, he considered it a compliment to pose for the statue of the universally beloved President McKinley.

Good Times Coming for Commuters.

Very few commuters within the electric zone of the New York Central road realize that the work of electrification which they have watched as it progressed seemingly slowly within the past two years is now nearly half completed. The coming summer will witness a marvelous transformation throughout the entire zone, so-called. This district extends from the Grand Central station to Croton on the Hudson river branch and to White Plains on the Harlem branch. It is 34 miles to Croton and 24 miles to White Plains, so it will be seen a vast multitude of suffering commuters will be greatly relieved when the electrical apparatus begins to be operated. There are to be four tracks on each branch of the great electric Y—two for express trains and two for locals.

Chance for Mining Experts.

The United States civil service commission announces examinations on May 10 to secure eligibles to fill vacancies in the positions of superintendents, general foremen and miners in the mining department under the Isthmian canal commission on the Isthmus of Panama. The persons appointed as a result of these examinations are to be employed in the rock excavation work on the canal. These examinations are open to all citizens of the United States and also to aliens who comply with the requirements, provided that aliens appointed for service on the Isthmus of Panama shall not be eligible for appointment or transfer to any other branch of the public service. Age limit at time of examination—superintendent, 20 to 50 years; general foreman and miner, 21 to 45 years. Salaries—superintendent, $250 a month; general forman, $150 a month; miner, $150 and $175 a month. From persons eligible as general foreman, appointments will also be made to the position of foreman at $100 a month.

Buildings in Bronx Sold from Plans.

Many of the buildings to be erected under the new tenement house law in the Bronx are being sold from the plans, one builder alone having already disposed of five of these proposed structures. Throughout the borough the builders are exerting every energy to complete their structures at the earliest possible date in order to meet the present enormous demand for apartments. The purchase of buildings from plans is being made purely upon a rent proposition. In other words, a structure valued at $60,000, with a prospective rent roll of about $6,000, is sold for $50,000, thereby giving the purchaser sufficient margin to dispose of his holdings in the market.

An Entire Family Is Stricken.

Just when physicians have begun to hope that warm weather would put an end to the spread of cerebro-spinal meningitis, the scourge has seized an entire family in Brooklyn. Mr. and Mrs. James La Rose of Williamsburg buried two of their children yesterday, and returned from the cemetery to care for their four remaining little ones, each of whom is suffering from the same disease. Physicians who have been attending the La Rose children have reason to fear that the entire family will be extinguished by the malady.

Heart Not Bowed Down.

Presenting the appearance of a man flushed with victory rather than one crushed by defeat, John W. Gates, who is reputed to have lost, with his associates, between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 in their recent attempt to corner May wheat, reached New York from Chicago and went immediately to his office in Wall street. With a crowd of friends waiting for him, Mr. Gates was attacked by a bunch of reporters, but he came out with a smile and no indication that he had recently gone through a financial cyclone. He is the same unperturbed John W. Gates.

Gates Still on Bull Side.

"Business conditions in all parts of the country are exceptionally sound, particularly the underlying conditions of the steel and iron industry," said Mr. Gates. "I do not believe anybody or set of interests will be able to create a severe slump in the steel issues. With steel and iron conditions so favorable, and prospects of increased earnings this year, this would, in my judgment, be a difficult task. There is every indication that the prosperity the steel industry is now enjoying will continue uninterrupted. The big tonnage on the books of the various steel companies can be regarded as an evidence of the sound underlying conditions of the iron and steel industry."

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The bird cries; the flower falls; the spring has a hidden wound.
The man in old age, as he muses over the bruised flower, feels broken in spirit.
Green spring itself believes that there are those who pity its sadness.
Yet I fear that we, playthings of rouge and powder, must drift desolate all our life long.
I cannot tell whose love is strong, or whose is fickle.
Commonly a perverse fate betrays the rosy girl to heartless men.
Today the butterfly is gone, deserting an open flower; on whom then can I rely?
Ah! my throat is stifled with sobbing.
When I think how the jade-jewel is shattered and fragrance buried, I cannot check the tears which fall from my two eyes.
—Chinese Spring Song.

You may not have been aware of the fact that the Chinese sing songs, or that they have real spring poetry. If so the foregoing from a popular Chinese song on spring will relieve your ignorance on this score.

And as you will readily perceive it is characteristically Chinese, for which the translator is entitled to much credit, for only a clever poet and word artist can translate Chinese so as to retain both its sense and peculiar characteristics.

You will notice that spring seems to have much the same effect on the yellow man that it has on the white man. Tennyson expressed it for the white man in his famous lines:

"In the spring a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove:
In the spring a young man's fancy lightly
turns to thoughts of love."

* * *

This is the song of the Chinese maiden and is popular everywhere. The translator, Mr. Clementi, says of the songs that he has translated, and recently issued from the Oxford University Press, that they were first published probably in 1828, and that they have become so popular that today they are sung alike by "toys of paint and powder" on board the gilt and scarlet flower-boats, by blind minstrel girls in the houses of the wealthy men, and by the dirty beggar in the suburban slum.

What has become of our own folk songs, or those that were once so popular? At the present time there is not a really popular song extant.

Is it because we have ceased to be a song-singing people, or is it because we have no really good song writers? There was Tom Moore, who wrote songs for the world, was once one of the most popular of men. But alas! he is unhonored and unsung as he once was.

And how is it with our own Stephen C. Foster and Will S. Hays, and Thompson, who made themselves famous, not only in the Ohio valley, but throughout the length and breadth of the land?

Have the home songs, homely and simple, been crowded out by classical selections? Hardly so; at least we hear less of these than of the rag-time ditties that come in a night and go in a day.

* * *

No doubt but many of you can recall the old song book, or rather book of songs, without the music. The name of the tune to which it went was attached to each piece.

Then the song was the thing. And it seems there were more singers than now. True, they were not all good singers, but that didn't count for much if the song was good.

In those days when the young people met at a neighbor's house they sang songs, and usually without accompaniment. Only those who had no voice at all were excused from taking part in the singing.

Part songs were so popular that in every community there were bands of singers who practiced together until they could turn off a number of part songs, some of which were more or less difficult.

Song and chorus pieces were quite the rage, particularly with literary societies, clubs and singing bands.

And how the chorus would sing, particularly when the air was rollicking and had a good swing to it.

And what has become of the serenaders? It hasn't been so long since these peripatetic singers were quite common, for there are a good many of them still living. And if you can get them tuned up they will entertain you and do it very well.

* * *

Reference to the old-fashioned song book and song singing may recall to some the habit of copying songs by those who were not fortunate enough to own a book. Indeed, you may have an old copy book with songs written here and there through it.

Those who could not sing were expected to be able to "say a speech," or knock off a patent sermon.

Do you remember the patent sermons by Lorenzo Dow? Some of these were corkers, and never failed to bring the house down.

"Flee to the mountains of Hepsadam where the lion roareth and the whangdoodle mourneth," was the text upon which one of these was based. The sermon was worked out in regulation style, with its firstly, secondly, and so on.

There was also a series of negro preacher sermons that were held to be very amusing. "An' he played on a harp of a thousan' strings," was the text of one of these, which text the preacher said "mout be frum some'rs 'tween the book o' generation an' the book o' revolutions."

Look up your old scrap books and read these over again, just to see if they strike you as being as funny as you used to think they were. This calls to mind the scrap book, which is a good thing.

To the Observed of Observers—Your article on scrap books makes me want to tell you about mine, which is so helpful and interesting. I think one has a very warm attachment for these scrap books, as you do for your diary. It becomes a part of you, for there your sentiments are voiced and you read yourself into it as you do in books.

My scrap book is divided into five parts, which I call books. In book one (the first 25 pages) I have a collection of poems; book two is for religion; book three is a miscellaneous collection; book four is for everything on the subject of music, and book five the art gallery. In this last book I not only have pictures of those whose personality or work I am interested in, but pictures representing scenes in other books. I presume if I were more interested in the drama or the bachelor girl, I would have one book for each of them.

If one were going to have a scrap book published for circulation an index would be the proper thing, but having it in books as I have described, makes it quite unnecessary. I am so familiar with mine I need no index.

I must tell you too of a pretty idea I have of naming each book as its spirit strikes my fancy. For instance the third, the miscellaneous collection, I have titled "Bits of Colored Glass."

To anyone wishing to know more fully how this plan is carried out I would willingly name some selections from each book to give a more definite idea, if it would be of any help in classifying. But best of all is planning a scheme all your own, for by so doing you will find an index unnecessary, and it gives the book more character and makes it peculiarly your own. I cherish my scrap book next to my diary.

The idea of a picture gallery occurred to me in the number of pictures of faces and events representing the clippings in your scrap book. To my mind it is as necessary to its completion as quotations are to elocution, and I think any appreciator of "scraps" will find it an interesting and instructive addition.

OUR ORCHESTRA IN THE SOUTH

Plays at Biltmore, Which G. W. Vanderbilt Opens to Public. Gadski the Soloist.

AFFAIR BRILLIANT SOCIALLY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 28.—The Pittsburgh orchestra furnished the program for a benefit concert at G. W. Vanderbilt's home, Biltmore, tonight, the event being the most brilliant social function of the city's history. The guests, over a thousand in number, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt in the immense banquet room, capable of seating 1,500. A dinner to a small number of their friends was given earlier in the evening in honor of Madame Gadski, the soloist with the orchestra, who was Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt's guest while here. Mr. Emil Paur, conductor, shared in the applause which followed each number of the program. Madame Gadski's songs were listened to with great pleasure and she graciously replied with encores to each of her two numbers. At the reception, held by Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt at the close of the concert, refreshments were served and the guests in the audience were presented to Madame Gadski, Mr. Paur and the members of the orchestra. The program was:

1. Overture—"Freischutz" ..... Weber
2. "Flying Dutchman Sentas Ballad"..Wagner
   Mme. Gadski.
3. Symphony, C minor (fifth) ..... Beethoven
4. (a) March of the Marionettes.....Gounod
   (b) "Traumerei" ..... Schumann
   (c) Serenade ..... Mozkowski
   (d) "Cricket on the Hearth" .....Goldmark
5. Spring song, "Still Wie Die Nacht, Weil" ..... Schubert
   "The Erl King" ..... Schubert
   Mme. Gadski.
6. "Meistersinger" prelude ..... Wagner

In anticipation of the concert and of the horse show which was given this week, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt have entertained a considerable house party. Among the guests are Lady Brassey and Lady Pearson of London, England, Mr. W. Rathburn Bacon and Mr. Edward R. Bacon of New York city and Madame Gadski. This notable company and the many visitors who have flocked to Asheville for horse show week from all parts of the south and the larger cities of the north, made the concert a brilliant affair. A party of one hundred came up from South Carolina in special cars.

It was the first time since Mr. Vanderbilt had opened the mansion to public entertainment. At the close of the concert, the beautifully tapestry gallery, library, and all the apartments of the main floor were opened for the visitors. The concert itself was given in the banquet hall and its ability to hold 1,500 people made the seating of the crowd comfortable. To convey the guests from the end of the Asheville-Biltmore car line through the estate to the house, a distance of two miles, every livery carriage in Asheville was employed by Mr. Vanderbilt, and it is believed every private carriage in the city in addition was also brought into use.

PADEREWSKI SEIZED WITH ILLNESS WHILE PLAYING

He Has Cancelled His American Tour and Has Hurried to Boston for Treatment for Neuritis.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 28.—Ignace Paderewski, the great pianist, was taken seriously ill in this city from a strange cause. Last night he gave a concert in London, Ont. While playing one of his most difficult pieces he suddenly felt something snap in the back of his neck. Immediately severe pains set in at the back of his head and down his spinal column. He was able to continue the concert, but his condition grew worse throughout the night and he was unable to sleep.

Paderewski's condition today is much worse, his arms are stiff and he has severe pain in the back and at the top of his head. A specialist was summoned and Paderewski has gone to Boston for treatment. The pianist has cancelled all the remaining engagements of his tour in this country. The physician's diagnosis of Paderewski's ailment is that he is suffering from a severe attack of neuritis.

EXPECTS JAMISON HERE.

Attorney Walker Will Turn Over Estate to Heir When He Proves His Identity.

H. Q. Walker, attorney and executor of the estate of David James or, as the will disclosed, David Jamison, has not heard from the sole surviving heir of the man who deserted his wife and three children in Brooklyn 40 years ago. The exclusive story of The Gazette was published in New York, and through it one of the men mentioned in the will as the son turned up. Mr. Walker says when he proves his identity he will be entitled to the estate, which is worth over $12,000 and maybe more.

Wilson Jamison, who was found as a result of The Gazette story, is an engineer for the Home of the Aged in Brooklyn. Attorney Walker will communicate with him, and expects to have him come on in a few days. If he is the man he represents himself to be he will be given the estate.

CONTRIBUTIONS LARGE.

Reports Read at Erie Conference Meeting Show Liberal Donations.

Bishop Thomas Bowman of Allentown presided during the second day's session of the annual meeting of the Erie conference of the Evangelical association in Zion church, Sixth avenue, yesterday morning, afternoon and evening.

Statistical reports showed a total membership of 4,332, with 46 active ministers; contributions of $11,000 for missions during the year, and contributions totaling $65,287 78 for all causes. Announcement was made at the afternoon session that A. G. Dornheim and H. C. Rundt of Huron, O., will be ordained elders, and E. A. Black of Beaver Falls, deacon, at special services to be held Sunday. C. T. Schoepilin and J. J. Lang were re-elected conference trustees. The evening session was given over to a rally by the Young Peoples alliance, when addresses were made by G. Hemmiller and C. Staebler of Cleveland, editors of conference publications.

HOW TO COOK EGGS.

Every One Thinks He or She Knows, but They Can Still Learn at the Pure Food Show.

"Eggs" will be the topic for discussion this afternoon at the cooking lecture at the pure food show in Old City hall. Miss M. O. McGowin will be the lecturer, and she will demonstrate several methods of using this food product. She will illustrate her lecture with hard cooked eggs, omelettes and cheese souffle.

The lecture yesterday afternoon by Miss C. L. Trimble was one of the best thus far. Egg custard cream, chocolate eske and boiled frosing were illustrated fully and the products when finished were delicious.

The band concerts by the Homestead Carnegie Library band are a distinctive feature of the show this week, and are thoroughly enjoyed.

CONTRACT IS CLOSED.

Details for the Saengerfest Are Rapidly Being Cleared Up.

The executive board of the district saengerfest to be held here June 5, 6 and 7 met yesterday. The music committee reported that the contract with Madame Johanna Poehlman, one of the soloists, had been closed. It was announced that a large number of German societies of the county had sent official notice of an intention to participate in the parade and volksfest at Ross grove on June 7.

A general rehearsal of all the singing societies will be held in Teutonia hall, Pike street, Allegheny, on May 14, under the direction of Prof. John S. Vogel and Prof. John Danberger. On May 21 a like rehearsal will be held in Allegheny Turner hall at which Dr. Arthur Claassen of Brooklyn, the leader of the fest concerts, will be in charge.

DEFICIENCY IS LITTLE LARGER

Orchestra Guarantors Must Make Up $37,057.95 to Meet Past Seasons Expenses.

TREASURER MAKES STATEMENT

Treasurer Edward A. Woods of the Pittsburgh orchestra has issued his statement showing the financial results attained through the concerts during the past season. The statement shows a deficiency of $37,057 95, against a deficiency of $30,922 75 for the previous season. The total disbursements on behalf of the orchestra during the season aggregated $91,259 51 against receipts of $54,201 56. The increase in the deficiency this year over that of the previous season may in a measure be accounted for by the salary paid Conductor Paur, which is substantially in excess of that paid Victor Herbert during the last season Mr. Herbert was in charge of the orchestra. This difference in salaries is not sufficient to make up the entire difference in the deficiencies, but the rest is satisfactorily accounted for in a variety of ways.

This deficiency of $37,057 95 will have to be made up among the orchestra guarantors. On 57 guarantors of $500 there will rest an individual liability of $456 10 each. Two guarantors of $375 will make themselves responsible for $342 08 each; 22 or $250 for $228 05 each, and 47 of $125 for $114 03 each. For the deficiency of $30,922 75 during the previous season an assessment of $448 16 each was made upon 69 guarantors, which nicely wiped out the indebtedness. The following is a comparison of the financial items of this and the previous season:

|---|---|---|
| Season tickets | $17,442 00 | $18,067 00 |
| Auction account | 1,901 50 | 2,040 50 |
| Single ticket receipts | 9,523 50 | 10,092 25 |
| Musicians' salaries | 47,305 00 | 47,758 00 |
| Soloists | 7,473 00 | 6,075 00 |
| Program book profit | 2,197 50 | 2,389 82 |
| Profit on out-of-town and special concerts | 7,239 00 | 7,271 97 |
| All routine expenses as classified | 14,448 22 | 21,286 49 |

By the above, it will be noted that the sale of season seats in the season of 1903-4 was $1,375 in excess of that in the season past; that there was an increase of $139 from the auction account in the past season over the previous one; that the deficit during the past year from single ticket receipts was $568 75 less than that of the year before; that the musicians' salaries caused an increase of $463 in the deficit of the past season; that the deficit during the past season was decreased $1,398 and $392 32 respectively, on account of soloists and profits from the program book, and that there was an increase in the deficit over 1903-4 of $6,838 27 on account of all routine expenses as classified.

From profits on out-of-town and special concerts a deduction of $2,400 is made for conductor's services, corresponding with the previous year. Although a diminished amount of $1,375 was received from the sale of season tickets, this amount is about balanced by additional seats taken without payment by new guarantors, as follows: Twenty evening seats at $20 each; eight evening seats at $15 each; 46 afternoon seats at $15 each, and one afternoon seat at $10.

The three additional concerts the previous years produced $898 50 for single evening concerts and $1,141 50 for single afternoon concerts, a total of $2,040. For comparison with these, Treasurer Woods' statement says, $729 75 should be deducted to cover extra charge of 25 cents a seat for the last three concerts of this season, making a net comparative difference for single concerts in favor of this season of $1,879.

During the season just closed 38 cities and towns were visited, an increase of 12 over the previous season. It is believed that the tour made this year will result in more substantial financial returns next year. The holding of the orchestra together between terms of conductors, despite numerous obstacles, is, in the opinion of the treasurer, a matter of great congratulation, and tribute is paid Conductor Paur for the artistic season to which he contributed. The treasurer's financial statement in detail is herewith appended:

SUSPECTED HYPNOTISM.

John Ruzich Is in a Trance Which Is Baffling Physicians.

John Ruzich, aged 23, is detained at central station. He is in a peculiar mental and physical condition. He was taken to the station by Robert Milosevich, a clerk employed by Frank Zotti, steamship agents. Whether the prisoner was hypnotized, insane or only ill the physicians were unable to determine.

Zotti said a brother of Ruzich on last Tuesday bought a steamship ticket for the prisoner. Ruzich was found by some railroad men in the West Penn yards at Madison avenue, Allegheny. He was locked in a coach and yesterday turned over to some of his countrymen in East Ohio street. The man has done nothing but sleep for the last 36 hours. Milosevich tried to walk the man out of his trance, but after two hours wandering about the streets, no change of condition took place.

College Graduates Banquet.

The Duquesne and Nu chapters of the Phi Omega fraternity, composed of graduates of the West Penn Medical college, held a banquet last night at the Colonial hotel. Dr. O. L. Hertig was toastmaster and the speakers were Drs. H. S. Haslett, G. S. Ashbrook, H. F. Friesell, J. F. Thompson, P. M. McParland, J. A. Libby, E. C. Hawkins and C. E. Peters. There were 60 present.

Gregory Still in Azores.

PARIS, April 29.—The American auto boat Gregory is reported safe at Ponta Delgada, Azore Islands, awaiting the arrival of a supply of gasoline. The voyage to Europe was undertaken as the result of an offer of $10,000 for the first motor boat to cross the Atlantic ocean under her own power.

PLAYS SISTER AGAINST SISTER

BAD OUTLOOK FOR ACTRESS

NEW YORK, April 28.—On the evidence now in Nan Patterson's fate will be decided. Assistant District Attorney Rand closed his case today and Attorney Levy announced he would put in no defense.

Rand caught Levy off his guard and drove him into a corner. The prosecutor offered Mrs. J. Morgan Smith her liberty in exchange for a single word that might have sent her sister to the executioner's chair. On the verge of collapse, Mrs. Smith refused to pay the price.

Then, in a furious onslaught, Rand beat down the pitiful defenses of the woman at bay, and established out of her own mouth the fact that J. Morgan Smith within a year pledged jewelry at the shop of Hyman Stern, the man who sold the revolver. It was the parting shot, and it left the defense in dismay. The summing up will be done Monday and by noon Tuesday the case should be given into the hands of the jury.

Nan Patterson left the court room depressed and hollow-eyed, looking 10 years older than when she entered the chamber a week ago.

When Rand dismissed Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, no word had been uttered of her flight from New York or the damning relations with Pawnbroker Stern. At first she was dazed, then weakened, and finally her nervous energy so completely deserted her that but for the intervention of the recorder with a recess half an hour in advance of the usual time, she would have pitched forward from the witness chair in a swoon.

"Mrs. Smith," asked Rand quietly, "were you, on June 8 last, in possession of all the information you have just given Mr. Levy?"

"Yes," she replied innocently.

"Where were you on June 8?"

Temptation Is Offered.

The question came in slow, measured tones, and Mrs. Smith's face flushed. She uttered something in a low tone.

Mrs. Smith drummed with her fingers on the arm of the chair, and took a sidelong glance at her sister.

"Mr. Rand," she replied, almost pleadingly, "I would like to answer that question, but I am under indictment and if I did so it might tend to degrade and incriminate me."

"Mrs. Smith," said Rand, moving forward until he towered over her, "I am the acting prosecutor of this county. I will promise you that if you will answer the question that I am about to put to you, I will go into court of special sessions Monday morning and move the dismissal of the indictment against you."

"I would like to see my counsel," she said.

"Certainly," replied Rand. He had the recorder excuse the witness for five minutes, and as she was leaving the room he threw out a more tempting bait.

"Bring the indictment here," he said to Garvan, his assistant, "perhaps the recorder will consent to act on it right now."

Mrs. Smith disappeared into the recorder's private room, with Herbert Limberger, her attorney, and the big crowd silently waited. She returned three minutes later.

She Refuses the Bait.

"Now, Mrs. Smith, where were you on June 8?" said Rand.

"I decline to answer."

In the faces of two-thirds of the spectators there was an evident desire to applaud, but a warning tap on the clerk's desk forestalled it.

And she stuck to her refusal. By his own hand, Rand had reared a situation that was without parallel in a criminal trial, and had placed sister against sister in one of the most trying positions that weak human nature can find itself. At the moment the play told against the state. But Rand was only at the beginning of his manoeuver.

He introduced for identification a letter Mrs. Smith admitted was in her handwriting.

"Tell me," he cried, "who the letter 'S' stands for here."

"I decline to answer because it will incriminate and degrade me."

The witness was cowering in her chair, and Nan Patterson, her face depicting the rage of a wounded lioness, seemed about to spring at the prosecutor's throat.

"I show yo un pawn ticket. Do you recognize it?" asked Rand.

"Yes."

"Here is another. Recognize that?"

"I do."

Stands by Her Sister.

"Once more, will you tell me what the letter 'S' stands for in this letter?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Even if I guarantee to dismiss the indictment against you?"

"I will stand by my sister."

"Look at the pawn tickets again. Aren't they tickets issued in connection with loans negotitated at the pawn shop of Hyman Stern?"

It was out. No need for her to answer the question. Mrs. Smith gasped and Nan Patterson almost collapsed. But the plucky little woman was resourceful to the last.

On the day that Hyman Stern failed to identify J. Morgan Smith and his wife, the current opinion in the court room was that Nan Patterson would be acquitted. Two days' vigorous pounding by the state have changed the aspect of affairs, and tonight the general view was that the former "Florodora" girl will be fortunate if the jury again disagrees.

News came from the court of special sessions this afternoon that Julia Patterson Smith may receive her reward next week. Justice Foster indicated an intention of dismissing the indictments against her and her husband because of lack of evidence.

AGAINST GAYNOR AND GREENE.

Magistrate Lafontaine Puts Them on Their Defense—Delay Is Asked for Appeal.

MONTREAL, April 28.—Magistrate Lafontaine, the extradition commissioner, announced today that he considered a prima facie case of conspiracy had been made between Gaynor and Greene and Capt. Carter and others for the purpose of defrauding the United States government. He therefore announced that he was prepared to hear their defense.

Mr. Taschpreau, on behalf of the defense, asked for a delay, as he had already made an application to the court of appeals in Quebec, which sits on Monday, for an appeal of the decision of Justice Davidson, who refused a writ of prohibition. If the court of appeals sustains his appeal, the case would be taken from the jurisdiction of Extradition Commissioner Lafontaine. Adjournment was taken until next Friday.

WILL ADDRESS YOUNG PASTORS

President David Gregg to Preach to Western Theological Seminary Graduates.

A $6,000 MORTGAGE-BURNING

President David Gregg, D. D., of the Western Theological seminary, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the seminary in the East Liberty Presbyterian church tomorrow morning. The service will be public.

Through oversight, the installation of Dr. Gregg in the First Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon is upon the day set for the meeting of Pittsburgh presbytery in the Sixth Presbyterian church, Squirrel hill. As this is the last meeting of presbytery before the general assembly, it has full programs morning and afternoon. It is believed, however, that an intermission will be taken to witness and attend the installation, while a suggestion has been made that it still has time to change the place of presbytery meeting to the First church.

The congregation of the Fourth Methodist Protestant church, Park avenue and Mayflower street, will celebrate tomorrow evening a mortgage-burning which will wipe out a $6,000 debt which has been standing 20 years. The money was raised as an Easter offering last Sunday, and clears the congregation of all debt. The pastor, the Rev. J. C. Broomfield, will be assisted in the service by the Rev. G. G. Westfall, D. D., of Beaver Falls, a former pastor.

The Rev. Paul Weyand, pastor of the Knoxville Methodist Episcopal church, will address the Junior league of the church tomorrow morning on "The Boys and Girls of Today, the Men and Women of Tomorrow."

The Rev. John W. MacIver, a graduate of this year's class of the Western Theological seminary, has been unanimously elected pastor of the Watson Memorial Presbyterian church of Allegheny, and will preach in that capacity tomorrow evening. The pulpit has been vacant about two months. Mr. MacIver is a native of Victoria, Nova Scotia, and is a former graduate of Franklin college, O.

In accord with annual custom, lodges of Odd Fellows in many sections of the two cities will attend church tomorrow evening and in many instances hear special sermons addressed to them.

The last Sunday lecture of the present series to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy before the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom will be delivered in Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, tomorrow morning. The subject is "The Gospel of Common Sense." The occasion will also mark the twentieth anniversary of Dr. Levy's service as a rabbi.

A 10-day pentecostal revival meeting will begin tomorrow evening in the Robinson Street mission, Allegheny, under the direction of Supt. G. L. C. Richardson. He will be assisted by the Revs. Charles A. Tushingham and J. B. Starkey and Prof. R. A. Jennings.

SCHWAB SURPRISES THEM.

Agents Besiege Russian Admiralty for Details of His Success in Getting Naval Contracts.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—The news of the conclusion of the arrangement between Charles M. Schwab and the Russian admiralty for the reconstruction of the Russian fleet was published here this afternoon, being the first information on the subject to the Russian public.

The news created a great sensation among officials of foreign shipyards, who had been waiting continuously in the corridors of the Admiralty building. They descended upon the admiralty in a body, demanding details and particulars of the mysterious method of construction by which Mr. Schwab proposed to build ships 20 per cent higher in efficiency than anything now afloat. They obtained little satisfaction, for the superior officers who took part in the secret meeting declined to talk, and the inferior officers could only explain their lack of knowledge.

TO BUILD NEW SCHOOL.

Twelfth Ward, Allegheny, Will Spend $100,000 on Additional Buildings and Extensive Repairs.

The Twelfth ward (Allegheny) school board met last night and adopted the specifications submitted by Architect W. E. Snaman for a new school building to be located in Parkview avenue and an annex to the East street school building.

The building in Parkview avenue is to cost $55,000, and the East street annex $35,000. The remaining $10,000 of the $100,000 bond issue voted for at the February election is to be used in purchasing the site for the Parkview building. The Mead street building is to be sold.

The annex to the East street building is to be connected to the main structure with an arcade. Work on the Parkview building and the annex will be commenced at once and it is hoped they will be completed by the first of the year.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE CLOSES CONVENTION

NEW YORK, April 28.—The eleventh annual meeting of the National Municipal league and the twelfth national conference for good city government closed tonight with a banquet. # FRANCIES BECOMES POSTMASTER MONDAY

Files His Bond and Notifies Department He Is Ready to Assume Duties.

John Francies will enter upon his duties as postmaster of Allegheny on Monday morning. This conclusion was reached by Mr. Francies yesterday. He has so notified the department at Washington and his bond of $120,000 has been filed.

Mr. Francies said last night that he did not at present have in contemplation any changes in the Allegheny postoffice. He has not made up his mind as to that yet. The present force will be continued indefinitely. Charles A. Smiley, the assistant postmaster, appointed by ex-Postmaster James A. Grier, will remain in office for the present. Mr. Francies would make no statement regarding changes for the very good reason, as he says, that he has not decided what changes will occur.

Mr. Francies enters upon the duties of postmaster of Allegheny as the result of the retirement of Mr. Grier through illness. The latter was forced to relinquish the office when his condition rendered him unfit to longer discharge his functions as postmaster. Mr. Francies was appointed while serving as a member of the house of representatives at Harrisburg, and was given permission to continue his duties at the state capital because of important legislation in which he was interested. He was for years market clerk in Allegheny, and is prominent in politics on the North Side.

HARMONY TALK MAY END TODAY

Republicans to Decide If Citizens' Demands Are Too Dear a Price for Peace.

PENROSE HAD STRENUOUS DAY

Whether the day spent in negotiations yesterday shall be fruitful of harmony between the Republicans and the Citizens will be decided at a conference which Republican leaders are to hold this morning. Yesterday's proceedings revolved around United States Senator Boies Penrose, who might be termed the peacemaker. Republicans and Citizens visited him in turn several times during the day. It was he who conveyed to either side the conditions desired by the other. Senator Penrose remained over in Pittsburgh to hear the result. He will leave this afternoon.

The situation is this: For some time the Citizens have been complaining of the rules of the Republican city committee, and in conversation with Senator Penrose on Thursday they said they would like to have some changes in these rules. On that day the Republicans were just as reluctant to agree to any changes in the rules, and it looked as if harmony negotiations would be abandoned, but other counsel prevailed yesterday and the Republicans concluded it might be well to know just what the Citizens wanted in the way of alterations of the rules. The Republican consent to parley on that question was conveyed to the Citizens by Senator Penrose, with the result that late in the afternoon the Citizens wrote out on paper the changes they desired, and the document was given to the Republicans by the senator.

City More Important Than County.

Men on both sides declared yesterday that the coming county campaign was not discussed nor the personality of the possible county candidates even mentioned; that the main question was harmony in city affairs; both sides understanding that an agreement on that, considered the more important problem by the Citizens, would bring agreement in the county factional affairs.

Copies of the paper containing the Citizens desired alterations in the rules of the city committee, were distributed among Republicans who were in conference in the offices of the Beechwood Improvement Company. They took copies home with them and in many cases last night they consulted the opinion of other prominent Republicans of their neighborhood.

The chief alteration the Citizens demand is a new way of conducting the Republican primary elections in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, by adopting the rule of the Republican county committee. The rule of the county committee provides that all primaries outside of Pittsburgh and Allegheny shall be conducted by the regular election officers, elected at the polls, provided those election boards are composed of Republicans; and in cases where any of the election boards are not Republican the chairman, vice chairman and secretary of the county committee selects primary election boards composed of Republicans.

Different in the Cities.

However, the county rules provide that in Allegheny and Pittsburgh primary elections on county maters shall be conducted "as provided by the rules of the city committees of Pittsburgh and Allegheny."

In Pittsburgh Republican primary election boards are elected at the primary elections in June, and in Allegheny they are appointed by the ward executive committees. Both these systems are, of course, radically different from the one employed by the county committee in election districts outside Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

The reason the Republicans of Pittsburgh have for objecting to accept the rule of the Republican county committee are thus explained. The Citizens, through the city administration, control the majority of the general election boards in Pittsburgh, and these Citizens boards, claiming to be Republican, would conduct the Republican primary elections in the county, if the rules are changed. What chance, the Republicans ask, would they have in primaries so conducted, with the city administration having the power to use the city police to aid in carrying the primary election?

The Republican county rules provide that "any person who has voted the Republican ticket at the last preceding state or national elections shall be a qualified Republican elector," eligible to vote at the primaries.

What the Citizens Demand.

The Citizens demand that that rule be adopted by the city committees in place of rules which prescribe that, to be a qualified Republican elector, a voter must have voted the Republican ticket at the last two preceding elections, which, of course shuts out the Citizens. Some Republicans said that there are hundreds of Democrats prominent in the district and ward associations of the Citizens, and they fear the city administration might find some way of voting them at the Republican primaries.

Other demands of the Citizens contemplate curtailment of the power of the city chairman of Pittsburgh to increase the membership of the city committee by the addition of members of his own appointment.

Before the matters thus explained were laid before the Republicans, Senator Penrose had a busy day. Among his first callers in the morning were Director Bigelow, County Recorder J. D. O'Neil and County Controller R. J. Cunningham. They conferred with Senator Penrose awhile and then left. Presently ex-Senator William Flinn went to Penrose's rooms in the Hotel Duquesne, and immediately after he left Director Bigelow returned to the senator's apartments.

Another Conference of Republicans.

By this time it was noon. In the afternoon the Republican county chairman, Thomas J. Ford, went to see Penrose and then repaired to the offices of the Beechwood Improvement Company in Fourth avenue, where the following Republicans soon gathered in conference: Mr. Ford, M. G. Leslie, the Republican city chairman; David Hardie of McKeesport, Senator Flinn, ex-Judge Elliott Rodgers, L. L. Davis, Francis J. Torrance, John H. Henderson, chairman of the Allegheny city executive committee; John A. Bell, John P. Hunter and others. By this time the Republicans' request that the Citizens specify the changes desired in the rules had been conveyed to Senator Penrose and the Republicans were waiting for the list, while in city hall Director Bigelow, Senator William S. Woods, O'Neil and Cunningham were busy writing out the amendments they wanted.

At 4 p. m. the last named four walked over to the Duquesne hotel and went to the senator's room. Presently Mr. Ford came hurrying along Smithfield street and turned into the hotel. He was shown into parlor B, which is connected with parlor A, where Senator Penrose and the four Citizens were conferring. Senator Penrose handed Mr. Ford the paper given to him by Bigelow, and Mr. Ford hurried back to his Republican colleagues.

Shortly before 6 p. m. Director Bigelow and his friends left city hall and said they were going home. The Republican conference broke up for the day. At 10 a. m. today the Republicans will meet again, and it is thought that by noon Senator Penrose will be able to tell the Citizens leaders the result.

Senator Penrose had other visitors during the day. Among them were Archibald Mackrell, Frederick W. Edwards, Robert McAfee, Representative Robert McWhinney, ex-Senator W. A. Magee, Maj. J. W. Nesbit, ex-Congressman W. H. Graham, William Montgomery, Robert H. Heath and many others.

Rob Beckwith of Money and Watch.

John Beckwith of Glassport yesterday morning had an experience with two highwaymen, which cost him his gold watch, valued at about $75, and $19 in cash. The robbers overlooked a $150 diamond ring.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., April 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sadie Lewis, aged 24, came to Connellsville today and told the officers that while she was working in the barn at her home at Lemont, Thursday night, she heard two men planning to place dynamite on the rails of the Pennsylvania and of the West Penn electric railway. She followed them, was beaten into insensibility and placed on the Pennsylvania track, as were four sticks of dynamite.

She revived, just as the headlight of the Greensburg express loomed in view. She grabbed the dynamite and rolled off the track just as the train dashed by.

At Colverts station, four miles west of here in the Mahoning valley, the Pennsylvania today optioned the Scanlon farm of 55 acres and also the Jeslie and other farms at Willow Grove, three miles south of here. About eight farms have so far been secured and they all lie between the rivers and the high hills, effectually closing both valleys.

The boys left their homes in Brushton avenue in the morning, buying tickets for Greensburg. All three were taken into custody while walking about the streets.

Later in the evening D. M. Cunningham, father of one of the boys, came to Greensburg, and all three agreed to return home. While waiting for a train the Burgess and Gibson boy got away. Mr. Cunningham returned to Pittsburgh with his son.

R. Kinkead, at Youngwood, yesterday. During the civil war Mr. Hysong enlisted in a Pennsylvania regiment. All trace of him was lost after the Battle of the Wilderness and his family believed that he had been killed in battle. ### THIEVES LOOT HOUSE OF PROF. C. B. COOK

Home of School Principal Is Ransacked and Valuable Coin Collection Is Among the Plunder.

Stories of new robberies kept apace with police denials of previously announced plunderings yesterday. The residence of Prof. C. B. Cook, principal of the Allen schools, Thirty-first ward, was looted yesterday afternoon. Prof. Cook lives at 156 Industry street. Among goods taken was a lady's watch valued at $50, a diamond ring valued at $50, several rings of lesser value, a collection of gold, silver and other coins, a considerable sum of paper money, and several silk dresses and other garments. The coin collection was highly prized and contained specimens of as early coinage as 1800, specimen of the Lafayette half-dollar, and a $3 gold piece.

An excited youth rushed into the East End police station shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning and informed the sergeant that a gang of robbers were blowing open a safe on Park avenue, about two squares from the police station. A squad of men were sent out under direction of the informer, who took them to the bakery of William Plodgert & Sons at 272 Park avenue. The occupants of the house were found in the center of the storeroom, and contrary to the new custom, they were not arrested. They were mourning a broken slab of plate glass which had been purchased a few days ago for $600 and which had been set upon a trestle for the inspection of customers before being set in place. The trestle collapsed about the time the excited youth was passing and the crash that followed left no doubt in his mind that a safe had been blown.

Reports of a burglary in a residence on South Negley avenue and a hold-up on St. James street, East End, early Friday morning, were emphatically denied by Inspector McAvoy, of the Frankstown Avenue police station, last night.

WAGE RAISE FOLLOWS INTERBOROUGH STRIKE

NEW YORK, April 28.—(Special.)—E. P. Bryan, vice president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, has announced a raise in wages for guards and gatemen of the elevated roads and subway, to go into effect on May 1. Prior to the strike the Interborough company was prepared to grant increase of pay to several thousand employes, but the labor trouble prevented this plan from being carried out.

Beechwood Residents Want a Borough.

About 100 residents of the town of Beechwood in Union township filed a petition in quarter sessions court yesterday asking that part of the town be incorporated into the "borough of Beechview." The property in the proposed borough is in plans 2 and 3 of the Beechwood plan. The property begins at Little Sawmill run at the city line and runs from that point to the line of Lower St. Clair township and the line of West Liberty borough to the land of William Francis, to Crossan street, to Lower avenue, to Gray avenue, to Westerly church line, and thence to the place of beginning. Attorney John A. Metz is the solicitor.

Hundreds Hear New Church Organ.

Several hundred persons were present at Point Breeze Presbyterian church last night to hear the opening recital given on the new organ by William H. Oetting, organist of the church. The instrument was recently purchased at a cost of $10,000, and is said to be one of the finest in Pittsburgh. Mr. Oetting was assisted by Misses Inez Barbour, Myrtle McAteer and Rose Rothstein, sopranos; Miss Winifred Realhard and Mrs. Charlotte Wagner-Zeigler, contraltos; Messrs. J. C. Black and A. G. Gill, tenors, and Messrs. J. Gordon Jones and Richard Owen, bassos.

PLANTS AT BRADDOCK MAKE A NEW RECORD

Ten Furnaces Turn Out 5,200 Tons of Iron in Twenty-Four Hours.

A new world's record for the production of finished steel rails and iron was made at the mills and blast furnaces of the Edgar Thomson works in Braddock for the 24 hours ending midnight Thursday.

The total output of iron at the 10 furnaces was 5,200 tons, and the rail mill turned out 3,678 tons of finished rails. The best previous records were also held by the Edgar Thomson works. Early last month the 1 blast furnaces at the plant broke the world's record for the output of iron in 24 hours. The furnaces at that time made the best records ever made for one furnace, two furnaces, three furnaces, four furnaces and 11 furnaces. The world's record for iron was held for some time by the four furnaces at the Duquesne plant. The record made Thursday is expected to stand unequaled for many years.

The world's record for the output of steel rails has been held by the Edgar Thomson rail mill since it was erected. The appreciation of the big run made by the mills and furnaces was shown by General Manager Charles E. Dinkey yesterday, when thousands of cigars were passed to the workmen at the plant.

The unusual runs made at the plant during the past month will be manifested in the pay checks of the workmen at their next pay, when the increase in wages and increased tonnage will make the pay one of the largest in the record of the mills.

TO BUILD MOST POWERFUL WARSHIP IN WORLD

LONDON, April 28.—Arthur Hamilton Lee, civil lord of the admiralty, speaking at Gosport tonight, said the lessons of the Russo-Japan war had necessitated changing the designs of projected British warships. There are about sixteen million families in the United States. A large proportion are buyers, in some degree, of advertised goods.

The problem of the manufacturer is to get his goods into as many families as possible, and keep them there. The Saturday Evening Post reaches 800,000 families every week—about one out of each 23 of all the families in the country.

Of course, in remote parts of the country, or among the illiterate, you will find very few copies of The Post or any other publication. If it could be accurately determined it would undoubtedly be found that among the homes of the prosperous and the educated The Post reaches weekly one out of every seven homes.

This means that among the people that would make good customers for your goods The Post is to be found in at least every seventh home. Just think what a tremendous advertising power The Post must wield.

It is all the more powerful because it appears four times a month instead of once, and because it is bought by those who get it.

HE MUST RESIGN OR BE REMOVED

Court Determines Bigelow Must Let Go of All Trust Estates in His Hands.

ADMITS ANOTHER SHORTAGE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 28.—Frank G. Bigelow's supplementary schedule of liabilities and assets to his petition in bankruptcy will probably not be filed before a week or ten days. Mr. Bigelow, defaulting president of the First National Bank of Milwaukee, did much of his private business from memory, and it is this circumstance which is delaying the completion of the schedule.

No action has yet been taken by the heirs of the Broadhead estate looking to the removal of Bigelow as trustee. In this connection, it is said, Judge Carpenter, in the county court, will take steps soon to remove Bigelow from the various trusts which he holds by virtue of testamentary appointment. Opportunity will first be given the former bank president to resign from these positions.

Mr. Bigelow acknowledged today that he owed the Broadhead estate an amount not to exceed $30,000, in addition to the $100,000 in the list of unsecured creditors. The resignation of Mr. Bigelow as chairman of the Milwaukee Clearing House association has been received and accepted. He is succeeded by Frederick Kasten.

The Wisconsin Trust and Security company, receiver for the Frank G. Bigelow estate, today took possession of the homestead at 675 Astor street, which for the past 20 years has been occupied by Mr. Bigelow and his family. Only a few personal effects were removed by the members of the family, who have taken up their residence with a son, Gordon Bigelow, at 490 Marshall street.

Bigelow, on the day preceding the filing of his petition in bankruptcy, telegraphed a broker in New York city to dispose of 100 shares of a certain stock and to turn the proceeds over to a friend of Bigelow's in New York. The broker, realizing that the stock in question had been turned over to the bank as part of Bigelow's restitution, declined to fill the order. The stock in question would not have realized more than $1,200.

The balance against the First National bank in the Milwaukee clearing house today was reduced almost to nothing. No tidings of Henry G. Goll, the missing assistant cashier of the bank, have been received by the police, the United States marshal, or the directors of the bank.

TELLS WHY OTERI DID NOT HELP THE SYLPH

NEW YORK, April 28.—Because he considered the yacht in no immediate danger, had a perishable cargo which would make any delay on his own part dangerous, and had no towing gear are the reasons given by Capt. Hotville of the fruit steamer S. Oteri for his failure to go to the assistance of President Roosevelt's yacht Sylph when she was lying disabled south of Bodies island. The Oteri arrived here today from Banes, Cuba.

ARRANGE FOR SAENGERFEST.

Local Societies Are Working Hard for the Annual Gathering and Predict Great Success.

Great preparations are being made for the coming saengerfest, to be held in this city from June 5 to 7. The program has not yet been definitely arranged, but it is asserted that the affair will be the greatest of its kind ever held in Pittsburgh.

A special committee, consisting of Dr. A. Schildge, Dr. R. P. Beck, M. Jahnsen and M. Namacher, representing the Arion society of Brooklyn, arrived in the city yesterday and were taken in charge by a local committee who looked after their entertainment. They came to make arrangements to take part in the coming saengerfest. The Arion was organized in 1865 and now had an active membership of 700, with 150 active singers, 100 of whom will come to Pittsburgh. It also has a woman's chorus of 100 voices.

Gas Inspector Discovers Burglary.

On going to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGaffen of Belmont street, Chartiers township, who are away on a two-weeks' trip in the south, a gas inspector yesterday found the door open. Upon making an investigation he discovered that the house had been ransacked by burglars. The extent of the robbery is unknown.

Charles S. Young, advertising manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, declared recently in a university extension lecture, that the railroads of this country have found newspaper advertising more profitable than any other form of publicity.

GUARD ELECTION HEARING LIVELY

WILL REPORT TO GEN. MILLER

A hearing full of excitement and made squally by efforts at frequent intervals to introduce "hearsay" evidence, was held last evening in headquarters room of the Fourteenth regiment on the election of Lewis M. Baker as captain of Company D.

The court of inquiry appointed by Maj. Gen. Charles Miller, N. G. P., to conduct the hearing is composed of Maj. James H. Bigger of the Eighteenth regiment, and Capt. Blaine Aiken of the Tenth. They called before them about 30 witnesses to bring out every phase of the fight in the company, which was alleged to involve a number of the other officers.

The unsigned charges which were given to Senator John M. Goehring and by him forwarded to the governor, bringing about the investigation, were produced at the hearing. The testimony failed absolutely to involve Col. W. Emery Thompson of participation in any way unbecoming to him as colonel. The members of the court made this open statement near the close of the hearing.

Fowler and Baker Candidates.

The trouble arose from an effort to elect a captain of Company D, the election being held on the evening of February 20. There were two candidates, Lewis M. Baker, second lieutenant of Company A, and Harry D. Fowler, formerly a major in the Fourteenth. Both had strong friends in the company, but Baker had the backing of the regimental officers, especially of Col. Thompson, who came to the armory on the evening of the election and made a speech to the members of the company advising the election of Baker as an experienced and capable officer.

The first ballot stood 29 for Baker and 17 for Fowler. It was found that two more ballots had been cast than there were members of the company present, and Maj. William S. McKee, who had charge of the election, ordered a new ballot. The second ballot stood 27 for Baker and 17 for Fowler, and the election of Baker was declared.

Those who opposed the election and inspired the charges which brought out the inquiry, insisted that Baker's election had been obtained by means of bringing from 12 to 15 strangers into the company. It was stated that some of these men at least were members of Baker's old Company A, and had been that night enlisted at the Hotel Brunswick, across Federal street, Allegheny, from the company's armory, and that they had, with but two exceptions, not been seen at the company's drills since that time.

Will Report to Gen. Miller.

Capt. A. V. Crookston, of Company A, was put on the stand and gave his testimony on the question. On cross-examination he admitted that four members of Company A had been regularly discharged just before the election of Company D, and had later again joined Company A. It was also brought out that these men had in the meantime joined Company A, voted at the election and had subsequently been discharged. The entire legality of this operation by the text of the law was claimed.

The two officers who constituted the court of inquiry will make their report in a day or two to General Miller, who appointed them. Their finding and the action of General Miller on the case cannot be forecasted.

The company is deeply torn by this dissension. It was formerly one of the crack companies of all this section and a year ago stood third in the state on inspection.

There is some trouble also in a company of the Fifth regiment, the national guard organization which has its companies at points along the Pennsylvania railroad main line. The nature of this trouble is not yet known, but some Pittsburgh officers are likely to serve on the court of inquiry.

DR. M'CLELLAND PRAISES NEW HEALTH STATUTES

Says Old State Board, With Same Powers, Could Have Saved Thousands of Lives Annually.

The new health law, one of the many useful measures passed by the late legislature and approved by Gov. Pennypacker, is considered by Dr. J. H. McClelland, the Pittsburgh member of the state board of health, as a very valuable measure. Dr. McClelland said the state board could have saved from 5,000 to 10,000 lives annually had it possessed the power given the health department created by the new law.

Dr. McClelland was one of the warm advocates of the legislation. He said the members of the state board were all willing to be legislated out of office so long as the health regulations would be improved. The old law gave plenty of directions as to what the health board was to do, but did not give it the power to enforce regulations. There were few, if any, penalties for the violation of the health law, and the board had to go into court before it could carry out any of the duties imposed upon it. The members of the old board, excepting the president, worked without salary, and that they did their duty is demonstrated, Dr. McClelland thinks, by the fact that the first board was appointed by a Democratic governor and has been reappointed right along by the Republican governors who succeeded.

Dr. E. G. Matson, the Pittsburgh bacteriologist, who is famed all over the country for his attainments in his line, said it was hoped by the physicians of the state that Dr. Charles B. Penrose of Philadelphia could be induced to accept the place. Although the salary is $10,000 a year, Dr. Matson says that if Dr. Penrose accepts the place it will be at a sacrifice of his personal interests, as he has a very large practice.

THIRTEEN PERISH IN COAL MINE

Explosion Occurs in Shaft Near Dubois, the Cause Being Undetermined.

ONE MAN IS BADLY INJURED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DUBOIS, April 28.—Twelve men were killed and one man was badly hurt by an explosion of powder in the mine of the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal and Iron Company at Eleanora last night.

The dead are: George Kirkwood, leaves widow and six children; Adam Kirkwood, leaves widow and four children; Joe Lodna, leaves widow and five children; Frank Schrum, leaves widow and three children; Augustus Wasicavitch, single; Martin Wasicavitch, married; Nick Promansky, single; John Promansky, leaves widow and three children; John Hopkins, George Tansky, Leler Lote, John Taoli and Martin Rosack.

Harry Mohney had his arms and legs broken.

Supt. Fleming, with a party, entered the mine, but rescue work was slow, as the brattice work had been blown down and had to be replaced as they proceeded. At midnight the rescuers found Harry Mohney, a motorman. He was unconscious and did not revive until this morning, when he was taken to the Adrian hospital. It was not until 9 o'clock this morning that any of the dead were found. A trapper boy was the first, and his body was taken to his home, near the tipple. Others were brought to the surface at intervals, until the last was recovered, late this afternoon. An examination of the bodies indicated that death had come instantly.

Assistant Superintendent Driscoll telephoned this morning for Mine Inspector Hampson. Until the official investigation has been made it cannot be said what caused the explosion. The mining officials are emphatic in the assertion that it was not caused by gas. It is claimed that this shaft was exceptionally free from gas.

It is the theory of the officials that a charge of powder caused the disaster. Is is supposed to have not been properly tamped and was blown out of the hole, although this is conjecture.

Supt. Fleming and Assistant Superintendent Driscoll were through the mine Wednesday, and there was no gas at that time. Mr. Driscoll made another trip yesterday, and everything seemed to be in good shape.

Fire Boss Rue was in the west heading, near where the explosion took place, 25 minutes before it occurred, and says there was not the slightest indication of the presence of gas. Thirty-two men were working in the mine when the explosion let loose. Those who were uninjured had no difficulty in reaching the surface.

Pupils Give Evening of Opera.

The numbers included selections from Bizet, Bruch, Gounod, David and Meyerbeer. Repeated encores were called for and several of the soloists were made the recipients of floral tributes.

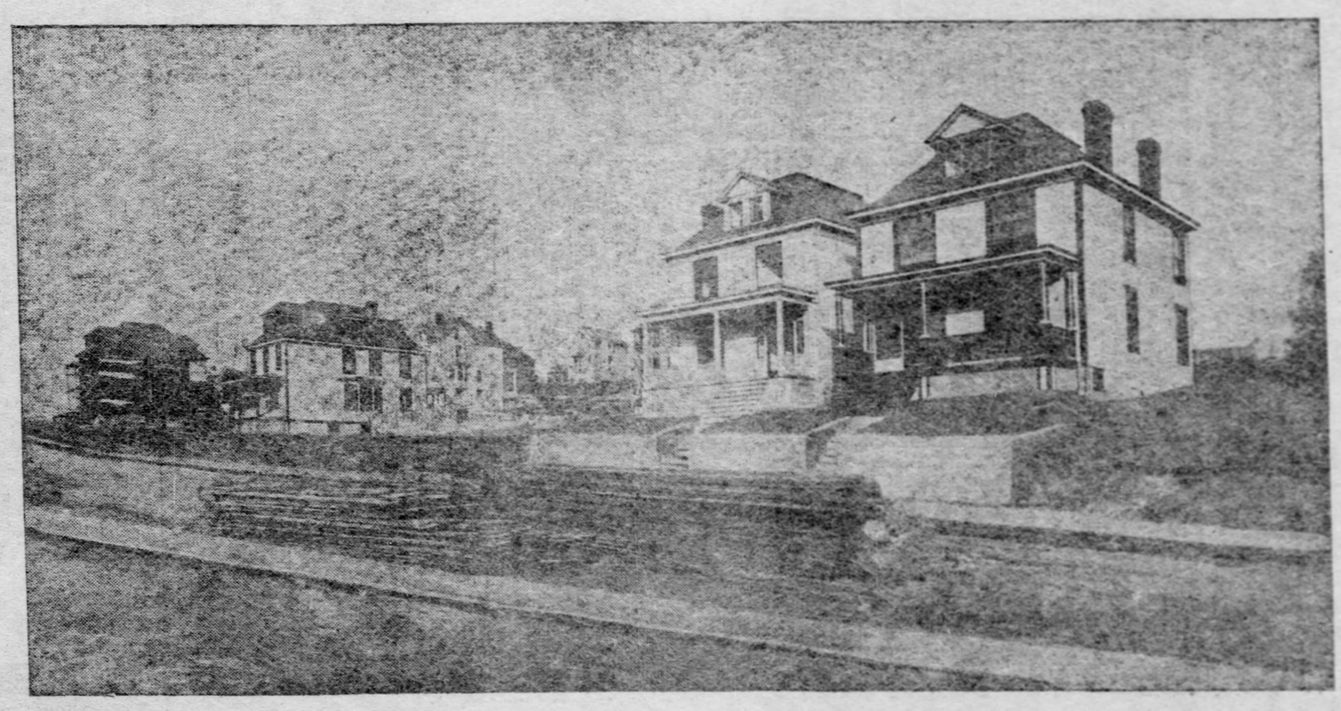
We couldn't blame home-seekers and investors getting wildly excited and fighting for the lots. Anyone with an ounce of sense after riding through the Mount Washington tunnel and thinking of the quick 10-minute ride from home to work, can see what West Liberty has in store for all who buy there.



Another bunch of high-class houses in another section of West Liberty. These homes are being erected on beautiful Fifth Avenue by Mr. Chester West.

We honestly believe that every lot in West Liberty will be worth double the money or more by 1906. And we earnestly advise all our old patrons to get in on the few remaining lots left. Had only couple of hundred to start with. Over sixty of them went off yesterday. An insurance solicitor made a profit of $190.00 on a $700 lot. And all he invested was $10. He had a great bargain and made a mistake reselling so soon. Another man who will erect a business block on a prominent corner—the plans are now being made—was offered twice what he paid for his lots last fall.

WE APPEAL TO YOU TO GO OUT AND LOOK AT THESE LOTS. WHERE ELSE IS THERE DESIRABLE PROPERTY WITHIN SUCH SHORT DISTANCE OF DOWN TOWN PITTSBURGH—10 MINUTES—SELLING FOR $2 A FOOT UP? [Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

GUNSHUE PASS, MANCHURIA, April 28.—Gen. Linevitch granted an interview at his headquarters here today, in the course of which he expressed himself as highly satisfied with the present condition of the Russian army and its readiness to assume the offensive. He manifested emphatic regret for the retreat from Mukden.

The new commander-in-chief believes that the peril to the army at that juncture was overestimated, and that the day was far from being lost when the retreat was ordered. With his eyes gleaming with indomitable energy, and emphasizing his words with a blow on the camp table before him, Gen. Linevitch exclaimed:

"I would certainly not have retreated, I realize it is easy now to pass judgment upon accomplished facts; nevertheless, I repeat, I would not have retreated. I persuaded Kuropatkin to stand at Tie pass, and we halted there for a time. We could have remained, but on account of certain administrative factors he considered it inexpedient, and the retirement was continued. After assuming command I gave the men a day's rest. The Japanese did not press us, and could not do so, as their condition was quite as bad as ours.

"As for that unfortunate retirement itself, any observer can convince himself that its significance, and especially its influence upon the army, has been industriously and greatly exaggerated by the Japanese and the foreign press. The retreat was in no sense in the nature of a complete rout, proof of which is evident in the fact that in less than a month after the retreat the two armies which were thrown into confusion by the Japanese had been collected and fully reorganized. The First army did not require this, having retired in order."

Gen. Linevitch attributes the greater success of the First army's retreat to the relatively more advantageous position in which it was located. He admitted there were heavy losses, in both men and material, during the retirement, and especially to the wagon train; but he declared this also was exaggerated.

Touching the breaking through of the Japanese at the Hun river, March 9, Gen. Linevitch said he did not nor does he now attach great significance to it, believing this force was not greater than two companies of scouts or small bodies of cavalry. He believes the report that Japanese artillery was in action east of the Great Mandarin road, March 10, was based on a miscalculation.

Gen. Linevitch also discussed the Gripenberg incident, taking the part of Gen. Kuropatkin as against his former subordinate, and finished with an expression of good will towards the press in the present war. After an expression of regret that so much harm had been done before he was given command a cloud of sorrow darkened the rugged, energetic face of the general, and he twice repeated:

"Yes, it is a sad inheritance."

The correspondent later lunched with the staff, where Gen. Linevitch warned his officers against a too wide extension or scattering of forces. He favored, rather, concentration, even of cavalry.

In the last fortnight the Russian army on the right, left and center has advanced beyond the Sipinghai position, and the Russian vanguard posts are now in the form of an inverted crescent, the left horn of which is considerably in the rear of Changiufu, which the Japanese hold, and which is strongly fortified. The Japanese are now exerting a pressure against the Russian advance.

On account of the nature of the country and the position of the opposing armies, it is impossible to effect reconnaissances by small bodies of scouts. Work of this nature must be done by considerable detachments, often including all three armies of the service, being practically reconnaissances in force. These reconnaissances do not show as the present moment a Japanese turning movement in the direction of Kirin, but it is impossible to say what may be taking place along the eastward roads from Korea and the Yalu territory. The country there, however, is exceedingly mountainous and difficult for military operations.

The Japanese are actively fortifying around Kalyuan, and the line of Japanese defenses appears to be approximately in the vicinity of the villages of Shabedzi and Syasoske and the valley of Kaokhe.

Prince Hilkoff, the minister of railways, has arrived here.

DUTCH BANKERS TAKING LARGE BLOCKS OF STOCK

Pittsburgh Coal Company Issues Are Believed to Be Secured for Purely Investment Purposes.

Large blocks of the stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company are being bought by bankers of Amsterdam and other cities in Holland and by conservative bankers and brokers in the east, notably New York and Philadelphia. It is stated that the blocks involve frequently several thousand shares, but that the certificates are made for 10-share lots or even less. This is believed to mean that the stock is wanted for investment rather than speculation.

It is stated that the closing of the contract with the United States Steel Corporation for 25 years' supply of coal has been one of the factors in influencing the purchase of the stock by these bankers.

The case of the Pittsburgh Coal Company was likened by a Pittsburgh financier yesterday to that of the Philadelphia & Reading interests under the administration of the late Franklin B. Gowan. He acquired for the company an immense acreage of anthracite coal and involved it in a huge indebtedness which was a burden to the company for a while, and the criticisms were so bitter that he finally took his own life. The events of subsequent years demonstrated his wisdom, and today his foresight is receiving general recognition.

Burke Points Way to Success.

Congressman-elect James Francis Burke delivered an address last night before the members of the Catholic Lyceum, in their hall, Washington street. His subject was "The Road to Success." Success, he said, depended upon having a definite goal and striving to attain it. No success would come to the man who lacked continuity. Honesty, he said, was also of prime importance and he drew a lesson from the recent disclosures in the case of Frank C. Bigelow, former president of the First National bank of Milwaukee.

Railway Club Meets.

The Railway club of Pittsburgh met last night at the Monongahela house. E. D. Stafford, general manager of the Flannery Bolt Company, read a paper on "Bolts Used in Fireboxes." It was intended to elect a successor to A. J. Kearney, who resigned as vice president, but the matter was deferred until the annual meeting next month.

You in Particular.

Did you ever buy any of your furnishings here?

That is, Shirts, Neckwear, Underwear, Shoes, Hats, Hosiery, etc.

If you haven't, we think we're in a position to prove you're not possibly getting the best you can for your money.

Not that you can't get good furnishings in most any store—all stores have good furnishings.

But it's what they sell them for, we mean.

We're a little out of the way, possibly, for some, and for that reason have to make inducements to get men to came.

WEATHER MAY CONCEAL NEBOGATOFF'S FLEET

British Warships Patrol Singapore Harbor on Lookout. Rojestvensky at Hainan.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, April 29.—Three British cruisers, according to the Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Shigapore, are patrolling outside the harbor there, as thick, wet weather renders the straits invisible from the roads. Weather conditions may, therefore, prevent the observation of Vice Admiral Nebogatoff's movements.

The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent reports that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron was, on Thursday, off Leongsoi bay, in Hainan.

TOKYO, April 28.—The Russian second Pacific squadron was sighted yesterday off Cape Varela, 70 miles north of Kamranh bay.

ISLAND OF PENANG, STRAITS SETTLEMENT, April 28.—The British steamship Catherine Apcar, which arrived here today from Calcutta, reports having passed two detachments of eight and seven warships respectively last night, 60 miles south of Penang. They were heading for Singapore.

KAMRANH BAY, COCHIN-CHINA, VIA SAIGON, April 28.—The Russian squadron, with its transports, left its last stopping place Wednesday evening for an unknown destination. The warships were provisioned for six months, and it is thought here they were bound for Vladivostok by way of the Pacific. Four German colliers arrived at Kamranh bay too late to proceed with the squadron, but they subsequently sailed in the same direction in efforts to catch up with it.

Vice Admiral Nebagatoff's division was expected to arrive yesterday in Indo-Chinese water, where it is believed the admiral will receive instructions regarding the place where he is to effect a junction with Admiral Rojestvensky, whose squadron, besides 25 warships, includes a repairing ship and a water tank ship.

CZAR TAKES COMMUNION.

Pre-Easter Services in St. Petersburg. Jews Are Given Permission to Publish Paper.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—Three days' hard fasting preceding Easter, accompanied by the solemn services commemorative of Christ's passion, began today. Business of every character ceased and all the government departments were closed. The diplomatic corps, including Ambassador Meyer, attended the services at St. Isaac's cathedral. The emperor and the imperial family took the sacrament at the chapel of the Alexandra palace at Tsarskoe Selo.

Permission has been granted to publish in the capital a Jewish paper in the Hebrew language to be called The Way. So far as known, this is the first time a paper published in Hebrew has been authorized in Russia.

FLAGSTAFF HILL MAY GO.

Director Bigelow Considers Plan to Move It for Benefit of "Tech."

Director Bigelow has under consideration a plan advanced by Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the Carnegie Technical schools to accomplish several objects by the removal of Flagstaff hill in Schenley park.

The hill forms an obstruction to a view of the new institution. The earth from the hill would furnish sufficient material to enable the schools to change the grade of Woodlawn avenue from 7 to 4 per cent and bring the front of the buildings almost on the same level from one end to the other.

Appoints Members of Health Board.

The joint meeting of McKees Rocks council and the board of health last night came to a startling end when council resolved that the borough had no health board and the chairman appointed four members to serve on the board. Those appointed are Phillip Smith, Henry Korn, George Churchill and Dr. Miller.

BYERS MAY WIN THE TOURNAMENT

J. F. Byers and J. O'H. Denny Both Semi-Finalist for the Second Cup.

TRAVIS PUT OUT BY CHICK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 28.—E. M. Byers, the Allegheny Country club crack and twice finalist in amateur championships, played through his two men today and looms large as the winner in Lakewood Country club's tournament. In the second round of the Meredeconk cup division H. McSweeney, Oil City, defeated C. B. Fownes of Oakmont, but it took 20 holes to decide the contest.

Walter J. Travis was put out of the Lakewood Country Club golf tournament today by William C. Chick, a young Harvard player, and Chick in turn succumbed to Murray Olyphant of Princeton, who is the New Jersey champion. Travis was defeated in the first round. He was enthusiastic over the long handled drivers that he used, but the golfers who followed him around did not share his enthusiasm and many expressed the opinion that the 50-inch clubs cost him the match. Chick outdrove him time and again.

"It was not the long-handled driver that beat me," said Travis after the match. "I lost because I used the short-handled putter."

Chick gave Murray Olyphant a hard contest in the afternoon, losing the match only at the nineteenth hole.

The summaries follow:

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETE

Rivers and Harbors Committee Will Be Royally Entertained.

Arrangements for the trip of the rivers and harbors committee of congress, from Pittsburgh to Cairo, have been completed. Capt. James A. Henderson returned from Cincinnati yesterday. He went there to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, and to complete the details for the trip. The Queen City has been chartered and she will be put in the best possible shape at once for the voyage.

W. C. Jutte has bought for C. Jutte & Co., Towhead Island, opposite Louisville, and the company will make extensive improvements there for the harboring of coal fleets and other river craft. The property contains 100 acres, and will not pass into possession of the company until next April. It is the intention to erect ice breakers and to deepen the channel so as to afford the company a good harbor.

Maj. William L. Sibert has received word that bids for work to be done on local river dams have been opened and the contractors notified. The work involves an expenditure of about $700,000. James H. McQualde has the contract for completing the work on Dam No. 2, his bid amounting to $197,337 08; Dam No. 5, Ohio river, Dravo Construction Company of Pittsburgh, $273,408; Dam No. 4, on the Ohio river, Baker Contract Company, $225,044 12.

The Pittsburgh harbor is again filling up with loaded barges and light draft coal boats. The coal companies are anticipating another rise and geting all craft in readiness. Many empties are coming up the river and the mines are now well supplied.

Capt. O. A. Douds of the Sprague has resigned and Capt. William Crow of the J. B. Finley will succeed him. Who will command the Finley has not yet been announced.

The Virginia will arrive this morning from Cincinnati and leave at 4 o'clock.

The Lorena, from Zanesville, got in yesterday morning and will leave again this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Greenland, from Charleston and Kanawha river ports, got in yesterday morning and left at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. She had a heavy trip both ways.

Russian Officials Are Cowed.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 28.—Mail advices from Batoum report only a slight improvement in the situation in the Caucasus. About 16,000 Cossacks have been brought into the disturbed district and martial law has been declared, but lawlessness, pillage and murder continue. The officials have been terrorized and the police compelled to march at the head of revolutionary processions, in which red flags were carried.

USING CARRIAGES ON ELECTION DAY

Wimodausis Club's Campaign Tactics Are Becoming as Strenuous as in Politics.

STRUGGLE FOR PRESIDENCY

All sorts of political tactics are being adopted in the contest which is now on in the Wimodausis club preceding the annual election of officers, which will be held on Tuesday afternoon, May 9, in Syria temple. A thorough canvassing of the membership of the club is going on, wire-pulling is resorted to and recalcitrant and luke-warm members are being drummed up. On the election day, it is rumored, carriages will be called into requisition to take some of the women, whose views on the coming struggle are wavering, to the polls.

Annually the atmosphere about the Wimodausis club presents many of the striking features of other most vigorous political campaigns for higher offices than the presidency of a club of women. The present contest is regarded as a very close one. Two nominations have been made for the presidency, the other offices having but one nomination, save that of chaplain.

The ticket nominated presents the following names: For president Mrs. John H. Armstrong and Mrs. Charles Aufhammer; vice president, Mrs. W. E. Gelston; secretary, Miss Mary Steele; financial secretary, Mrs. D. J. Evans; treasurer, Miss Lulu Yoder; chaplain, Mrs. John A. Reed and Mrs. Linhart.

There is also a good deal of uncertainty about the composition of the new board of directors, 19 women having been nominated, but 10 of whom can be elected. The board consists of 20 members, including the officers and the 10 directors elected. The retiring president is made the chairman of the executive committee.

The coming struggle between the candidates nominated for the presidency will be a very close one, as each has a large following among the more than 400 members of the Wimodausis club. Though, so far as club politics are concerned, the two parties are antagonistic at present, when the election is over it is predicted that for a few months, at least, all thought of defeat will be forgotten and every member will fall into line behind the victorious candidate until the time for another election approaches, when the same political pot will boil over. This has been the experience of the club in past years and it takes a strong hand to guide it safely past the rocks which threaten to engulf it on its election day.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Chicago at Exposition park.
New York at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at St. Louis.
Boston at Philadelphia.

The Pirates scored their first victory of the season over the Chicago team by taking yesterday's game, 4 to 2, after nine hard-fought innings. There was a crowd of 4,510 baseball lovers out to watch the sport and the victory of the local team was cheered as vigorously as would a victory that would clinch the pennant.

It was a fine afternoon for out-of-door sport and the players on both teams seemed to feel the effects of the good weather and played ball accordingly. The only misplay of the afternoon was made by Hoffman of the visitors, and his slip-up was in a measure excusable, as the chance offered was a very hard one. The game looked very much like another victory for the Cubs, but in the eighth inning the locals got their bats going right and managed to work in enough runs to change the looks of affairs.

"Three-fingered" Brown, who pitched the Pirates to a shutout at Chicago last Sunday, was on the rubber for the Cubs, and for the first seven innings he looked all to the good, as he was holding the locals to an average of one hit an inning and was steady, giving but one pass to first and it counted for naught. When the eighth inning arrived the more rabid of the fans yelled for the Pirates to get to work, and this command was obeyed in fine style. The first batter up in the Pirates' half of the eighth was Clymer, who made a fine bid for a hit, but Second Baseman Hoffman beat his grounder down and fielded him out at first base. The crowd had started rooting, but this seemed to cool the enthusiasm. However, it broke out afresh when Clarke placed a pretty single in middle field.

Beaumont, the next batsman, followed the good example set by the captain, and laced the ball to middle field for a single. Hans Wagner responded to the cheers of the crowd by driving a stinging single to left, on which Clarke scored and Beaumont reached third. Wagner at once stole second and when Leach placed the ball in deep right for a single both Beaumont and Wagner scored. This was as pretty a bit of consecutive hitting as has been seen so far this season, and the crowd cheered the players wildly. This was the only inning in which the Pirates could successfully gauge the benders of Brown.

"Chic" Robertaille was the Pirates' pitching selection for the afternoon, and the smallest twirler on the staff acquitted himself in fine style. "Chic" was there with both speed and benders and he also had a spit ball working over which he had perfect control. It was this spit ball that fooled the Chicago batsmen, and try as they might they could not gauge it. The clever work of Robertaille is shown by the fact that he struck out five batters with his delivery, and two of these were bunched in the fifth inning, when, with the assistance of a base on balls and a wild pitch, they netted the visitors their two runs.

Hans Wagner, after a layoff of five days, was back at his post of duty with his injured hand swathed in bandages, but it did not seem to affect his playing any. The Carnegie boy's presence seemed to steady up the team and his playing as usual was one of the real features of the game. Out of three times at bat he had two hits, which is doing pretty well for one afternoon. Hans was also strong in fielding and his rally yells had much to do with his team's success.

It was Clymer who scored the Pirates' first run in the third inning when he reached first by forcing Robertaille at second. Clymer stole second and scored on Clarke's hit to middle field. There was nothing more doing for the Pirates until the eighth inning, which Clymer opened by going out at first base. Clarke then singled to center and Beaumont followed with a single to left, Clarke going on Wagner's single to left Clarke scored. Beaumont moved to third on Clancey's fly-out to McCarthy and Wagner stole second and both scored when Leach placed a pretty single in right center. Leach tried to steal second, but was caught, thus ending a highly successful inning.

The Cubs secured their two runs in the fifth inning and a base on balls was what paved the way to the tallies. Sheid, the first batsman up in the fifth, struck out, after which Robertaille proceeded to lose control and passed Tinker to first. A wild pitch allowed Tinker to reach second and he scored when Hoffman drove the ball along the left foul line for two bases. Kling singled to center and Hoffman scored the second run. After that one inning the Cubs were never dangerous.

The game was both fast and pretty, some clever plays being put up on both sides. Tommy Leach was the Pirates' star and some of his plays were sensational. The best work for the visitors was done by Hoffman, notwithstanding his error. The score:

M'KEESPORT IS BEATEN IN THE OPENING GAME

Frank Eastley, for Homestead, Gains Decision Over Bill Smith in Good Contest.

Fifteen hundred persons attended the opening game yesterday at McKeesport and saw Frank Eastley, Manager Risher's young blonde-haired pitcher, dispose of the home team in a game that had an exciting finish, 6 to 5. Risher selected his youngest pitcher to bring home the game and his confidence was not misplaced, as Eastley performed like a big league veteran throughout.

Bill Smith was on the firing line for the home team, and he, too, pitched good ball, but his star was put out in the final round when five runs were sent over the home plate. Walter Orbin scored the only run for McKeesport in the third, getting on first by a base on balls, Crum's out put him on second and Fred Hartman scored him with a hit. This was all the familiarity Eastley allowed.

Homestead got back the run in the eighth when Buck Kennoy hit for three bases and scored on Mathay's single to left. Kennoy laced out another triple in the ninth, hitting the left field fence when Eastley and Bill Delehanty were on the bases.

Mathay robbed Soffel out of a long hit by collecting his drive and doubling up Harry Schultz at first. Glassburner took in a hard-hit ball from Red Smith's bat with one hand, which was another fielding feature. The score:

A New Golf Story.

A new golf story comes—out of Scotland, of course, where all good golf stories come from. There were a couple of old Scotch protagonists who met on a Scotch course every Saturday afternoon to determine their own private championship for the week. They were all "square" at the seventeenth, and the loser of last week had just played his third in the shape of a nice approach to the green. Last week's winner came up to his ball with grim purpose. He had an easy pitch to the green, but a number of young sheep were unconsciously browsing along the edge, all oblivious of the Olympian contest that was on the point of settlement. "Rin forrit, laddie," said last week's winner to his caddie "and drive awa' thae lambs!" "Na, na," vigorously protested his opponent, "bide whar ye are, laddie! Ye canna move ony growin' thing! that's the rule o' kowf." The course referred to was that of Montrose and the sheep belonged to "Sandy" Strachan. This course is included in the tour of the party of Golfers going to Scotland under the direction of the Raymond & Whitcomb Co., Park building.

WIFE IS MAKING HIGHEST WAGES

Plea of a Husband Who Is Asked to Pay Alimony in a Divorce Suit.

GRAFT CASE IS POSTPONED

Dr. G. W. Dippel filed an answer to the rule of his wife, Marie E. Dippel, yesterday to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt of court for failure to pay her $5 a week alimony, as ordered by the court in her suit for divorce against him. Dr. Dippel says he has already paid $90, of which $50 was for her counsel fees, and is not financially able to do more. He claims he had to borrow the $90, and is willing to submit his earning capacity to the court. He says his wife is not in need of the money as she is at present earning more money than he.

Decision in several divorce cases were filed by common pleas courts No. 1. The court refuses decrees in the following cases on the ground that the evidence is insufficient to support the charges: Jessie E. Slatuff against George W. Stauff; Hugh McDonald against Hannah McDonald; Cecelia Ruppert against Frank Ruppert; J. F. Williams against Elizabeth Williams. Decrees were granted in the cases of Augustus J. Moore against Bessie Moore; Mariana Balenkewicz against Mathias Balenkewicz; Minnie A. Darbous against Marcellus Darbous; Emma M. Hood against Clarence W. Hood; Minnie K. Geyer against Edward L. Geyer and Annie Caplan against Louis Caplan.

Woman Was Not in Court.

In criminal court Jennie Lacock, charged with keeping a disorderly house and with selling liquor illegally, was called for trial, but did not answer and the case was carried over until Monday. Her attorney, Meredith Marshall, told the court he could get her in an hour, but the case, nevertheless, went over. The charges brought against the woman are a result of the graft investigation being waged by the district attorney. A number of similar cases are on next week's trial list.

The trial list for the United States district court, which opens on Monday morning, includes more cases than usual. One that may attract attention is that against Frederick Stedman, a well-known resident here. As president of the Colonial Publishing Company he is charged with advertising for sale a fine edition of the Decameron. The postoffice authorities claim it is an improper publication.

Other cases are: Richard Oliver and C. A. Lane, charged with having a scheme to defraud; J. M. Bennett of the Colonial Supply and Manufacturing Company, charged with a scheme to defraud; F. W. Allbright, a postoffice clerk, charged with embezzlement; the Rev. George R. McKinney, charged with a scheme to defraud; Robert Baxter, an Erie letter carrier, charged with destroying a letter; Peter Kosonovic, Julia Capula, Dominico Greco and Mary Cooney, charged with improper use of money orders; J. Richard White, charged with raising a treasury note; Edward Hoover, charged with passing counterfeit money; Beulah Davis and Richard P. Smith, charged with improper use of the mails; Samuel H. Tunnel and George Smith, charged with making false affidavits in pension cases.

Shows Love for His Wife.

A very brief and sentimental will was filed as that of Ferdinand Krefeld of Pittsburgh, leaving a $2,500 estate to his wife. The will reads: "All that I possess in the world I hereby bequeath to her whom I most love in it, my dear wife, Elizabeth Krefeld, as her sole and absolute property. I name as executor of this my last will, my beloved wife, Elizabeth Krefeld."

Nancy Wilson, widow of William L. Wilson, formerly a well-known restaurant proprietor of Pittsburgh, by her will provides that $2,000 shall be expended to take her body to California where it is to be buried in Los Angeles beside that of her husband, and for monuments for the same. She leaves $2,000 to Mary Jones, a daughter, and $1,000 to Clara Jeremy, a granddaughter. A codicil changes some of the provisions as it gives $2,000 to Mary Diamond and divides her jewelry, silverware and furniture between her daughters, Clara Jeremy and Mary Jones, and gives one-third of the remainder of the estate to each of her three children. The estate is valued at $12,000.

The trustees of the Center Street Methodist Episcopal church, better known as the Bingham Street Methodist Episcopal church, filed an answer to the petition of the authorities of the borough of Mt. Oliver asking the court to make an order requiring that the dead be removed from the church graveyard. The church trustees admit that the ground has not been used as a permanent burial place for the past 10 years, but deny they have totally neglected the property. The neglect, they say, is on the part of the plot owners. They claim to have spent large sums towards maintaining the grounds. It is also admitted the church trustees have purchased a new burial ground in the South Side cemetery. They deny the charge the old cemetery is a nuisance or is detrimental to the health of the community. A hearing in the case will be held today.

Court Grants a New Trial.

A new trial has been granted in the case of John C. McDowell against Ira C. Harper. It was an action for slander, McDowell suing for $10,000 and getting a verdict for $800. McDowell was treasurer of Avalon borough, and charged that Harper said he had asked that the daily balances be entered to his own account. Judge McClung, who wrote the opinion granting the new trial, says the words alleged do not directly refer to McDowell as borough treasurer, and as he complains to have been injured as to his general reputation and standing in the community, a new trial should be allowed, as the words are not actionable themselves.

In refusing to take off a non-suit in the case of the Jute-Foley Company against Martha Pearsall Cathers and others, an action to recover for a barge sunk in the Monongahela river, Judge Evans said in his opinion the barge was not in condition for shipment and the plaintiff should have known it.

In the suit of Eleanor J. Mallunney against W. P. White, an opinion was filed by Judge Evans. The plaintiff, who is a daughter of the late Patrick A. Mallunney of Allegheny, claimed that the latter while in his mind deeded her property to White, who had mortgaged it for $2,500. Judge Evans said the deed of White created a dry trust, and reconveyance should be made on the demand of the plaintiff, who is the beneficiary. White is ordered to satisfy the mortgage and reconvey the property.

A jury trial has been granted in the suit of J. P. Stewart against the city of Allegheny, a dispute over the improvement of Perrysville avenue. The viewers assessed Stewart $130 benefits and he claims they should have given him $3,500 for damages.

In the case stated of "Mart" Stewart McKeag against William A. Wein, an opinion has been filed giving $100 to the defendant. It was a dispute over a lot and the court finds that a former deed imposes an incumbrance on the lot that the plaintiff cannot remove. Exceptions have been filed.

Holds Plantiff Is Negligent.

Judge McClung has refused to take off the non-suit in the case of Lorenzo Kuhns against the H. C. Frick Coke Company, an action for personal injuries. The court held the plaintiff had shown negligence.

The superior court will take up cases from Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Somerset and Allegheny counties next week. The list is very short and will probably be completed in three days.

Milsel Glukoff, a member of the bankrupt firm of M. Glukoff & Co., filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his liabilities as $22,185.21, and his assets as $265.

George L. Walter, John A. Fairman, John M. Allen, A. D. Armstrong and William Jenkinson were appointed as a board of viewers to condemn the Pine Creek and Wexford turnpike and plank road. The court orders the road condemned and damages assessed for the owners so that the road will be a county road, free from tolls.

A release of the verdict against Laura Biggar Bennett secured by Frank P. McDermott and Aaron E. Johnston, the New Jersey attorneys, has been filed in common pleas court No. 3. The release covers only two pieces of ground, the property of P. J. McNulty, who was named as one of the garnishers in the suit brought against Mrs. Bennett, and is done to release Mr. McNulty so that he may give a clear title to the property which was recently sold. The property is on Ninth street, and is described as being more particularly set forth in the deed of Peter J. McNulty and Richard M. Gulick to James F. Keenan as recorded February 27, 1905.

Executions issued: John Stranch vs. A. M. Kent, $358 61; Farmers Bank, an Ohio corporation, vs. Columbia Fire Proofing Company, $1,525 43; Gregory Cook & Co. vs. F. Santoni & Bros., $237.

SAYS RATE BILL IS NOT NEEDED

RIDICULES MILEAGE BASIS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.

In his testimony before the senate committee on interstate commerce today, George R. Peck, general counsel of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, insisted that the railway traffic did not demand the Esch-Townsend bill, and that it would not accomplish the purpose for which it was framed. In his argument Mr. Peck quoted freely from the reports of the interstate commerce commission, in which the members admitted that there was no general allowance of rebates nor making of secret rates on the part of the railroads. Under the head of wrongs complained of, Mr. Peck said:

By the concurrent testimony of the interstate commerce commission, of shippers and of the railways no legislation is needed on the rebate question, certainly none in addition to that which now exists for its suppression. It died hard, but it died. The best witnesses as to the fact of its extinction are the interstate commerce commissioners themselves. The able chairman of the body, the Hon. Martin A. Knapp, stated before a committee of the senate in 1903 "rebates have practically ceased to exist."

Speaking about the effect of government-made rates upon rebates, Mr. Peck said:

If, for the sake of argument, it should be admitted that the practices of paying rebates and charging unreasonable rates still exist, no remedy has ever been suggested which is so far removed from the right one as that of conferring the rate-making power upon a commission. This is so easily demonstrated that one may be excused for discussing it very briefly. Is it necessary to point out that a railway company can cut a rate made by a commission as easily as it can cut a rate made by itself? Making a rate is one thing —cutting a rate is another, and they have no possible relation to each other. If rates had been made by government commission for the last 20 years, it is perfectly plain that the rebate system would have grown and flourished as it did under a system which allowed railways to make their own rates. Indeed, in the course of considerable reading upon this subject, I have never yet seen a reason given why a government-made rate cannot as easily be cut as a railway-made rate.

Discussing the suggestion of the interstate commerce commission that a governmental tribunal which would be established by the Esch-Townsend bill should fix rates on a uniform mileage basis, Mr. Peck gave a number of illustrations of how disastrous this would be to the commerce of the country. He said:

Florida and California are the great orange producing regions of the United States; they are competitors with each other and practically the competition is between them alone; suppose congress or the interstate commerce commission, which in the exercise of its powers is congress, should make a rate on California oranges from San Diego, in the Pacific coast port, to New York equal to, or below the rate it establishes from Pensacola or St. Augustine, is it not plain that this rate thus established would give a preference to the ports of California over those of Florida?

On the other hand, suppose that the commission, in order to avoid giving this preference, should adopt a flat distance rate of so much per carload per mile, the Florida oranges would travel 1,000 miles while the California oranges would be compelled to travel and pay freight on over 3,000 miles, the result of which would be absolutely to shut out from the markets of New York the entire orange crop of California.

OFFICIALS RIDE IN AUTO.

City May Buy a Machine in Which Police Can Pursue Speed Law Violators.

Mayor Hays, Safety Director Moore, Police Superintendent Wallace and Councilman Hermes of the Sixth ward yesterday took a trip which may result in the city buying an automobile for the purpose of arresting speed law violators. The city officers were taken over the boulevard and returned to the safety building in Hermes' auto. The machine used is capable of doing a mile in less than a minute, and the officials traveled at a high rate of speed.

Superintendent Wallace said the police will have to be supplied with a machine in order to enforce the speed laws. Automobilists can easily evade detection and arrest under the present system, but if the officers had a machine they could overtake the violator and place him under arrest. A machine suitable for the police bureau would cost $5,000. Director Moore some time ago declared his intention to ask councils to purchase several machines for the police bureau.

DEMORALIZATION CHECKED, BUT STOCKS CLOSED WEAK

Majority of Issues Closed at Further Net Declines. Wheat Market Was Quieter—Local Securities Averaged Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

None of the rumors which had so unsettling effect upon the New York stock market on Thursday developed into fact yesterday, and Wall street felt relieved. London quotations for American securities were invariably higher, and the opening here was fairly steady, except in a few specialties. Almost immediately after the opening, however, the liquidation was renewed, and for a short time the market looked like going to pieces. Then strong support appeared throughout the list, and a rally ensued which made progress until the closing hour, when the selling broke out afresh, and the result was that a majority of issues closed at net declines.

Analysis of the dealings tended to prove that some of the speculative pools that had remained intact earlier in the week were liquidating from choice or necessity. This was noticeably the case in Louisville & Nashville. A few days ago this stock was forced up to 156 on reports that preliminary papers had been signed guaranteeing 7 per cent dividends. The emphatic denial of this report revealed the flimsy foundation of the previous movement, the stock selling down yesterday to 144⅝ and closing at practically the lowest. Another stock which suffered a severe drop was Colorado Fuel and Iron, which broke from 50½ to 46, and closed at 46½, a net loss of 3¼ per cent. In the late dealings American Locomotive common had a violent break to 48⅜ and closed at the lowest, a net loss of 5 per cent. The members of the Southern iron group reacted sharply on the reiterated report that the proposed merger had been abandoned.

United States Steel common declined to 33⅜ in the early dealings, and the preferred to 99¼. Both issues made strong rallies, but the selling was resumed in the final hour, with the result that the preferred closed at a loss of ⅞ per cent. Amalgamated Copper held better than the other industrials and closed only ⅛ lower for the day. American Smelting was helped by the announcement that a banking firm had underwritten $25,000,000 new preferred "B" stock of the American Smelting Securities Company, but it lost most of the gain at the close. Electric stocks closed weak and lower. The only industrial showing a gain of more than a fraction was Consolidated Gas, which closed 1⅝ per cent higher.

In the railroad list Union Pacific, St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio and Reading closed a shade higher, but the remainder of the list closed lower.

As a rule, the rumors of the day were of a favorable character. When the rally was at its height it was reported that the Russian and Japanese fleets were being held apart pending negotiations for peace, but the only incident that could be twisted into support of this was the moderate advance in French rentes and a firmer tone to continental markets. English consols, on the other hand, closed lower.

The money market was easy, the rate for call loans at one time declining to 2½ per cent. Interest in today's bank statement will center in the loan account. The extensive stock market liquidation is expected to show in a large decrease in loans. The preliminary estimates of the movements of currency indicate a net gain in cash of about $3,000,000.

Grain markets were quieter than on any previous day of this week, and the fluctuations in wheat were confined to a range of less than a cent.

There was a considerable falling off in business on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, and prices averaged lower. Pittsburgh Coal preferred held steady all day at 73 to 73¼, closing unchanged for the day. The common stock closed a shade lower, at 18. Manufacturers' Light and Heat was weak, selling down to 33½, but recovering to 34½ at the close. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas made a new low record at 55, but recovered to 56⅜ bid at the close. National Fire Proofing common closed unchanged, at 10½, but the preferred closed ½ lower, at 33½. Some activity developed in American Sewer Pipe, but it was at the expense of values, the stock declining to 37. Crucible Steel was moderately active, but both issues closed ⅛ per cent lower. Westinghouse Electric declined to and closed at 86, while Air Brake remained unchanged, at 145. The remainder of the market was dull and featureless.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, April 28.—Money was much wanted in the market today, for stock exchange payments, nearly $3,750,000 being needed for various calls besides the month-end requirements, which was partly offset by the distribution of $7,500,000 in dividends. Discounts were firm. Trading on the stock exchange was inactive. The hesitancy and nervousness due to the political unrest were still apparent. Consols opened heavy, recovered a fraction and relapsed in the afternoon. Home rails were depressed. Americans opened flat on the break in Wall street and rallied smartly to above parity. The uncertainty regarding Wall street and rumors of financial difficulties in New York restrained operations. In the afternoon the receipt of the New York opening quotations caused depression, but stocks rallied and closed firmer. Foreigners were dull and unsettled. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 100½. Consols for money, 80 3-16; consols for account, 80 3-16. Bar silver steady, 26 8-16d an ounce. Money, 2¼@3 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅛ per cent; for three months' bills, 2 3-16@2¼ per cent.

PARIS, April 28.—Prices on the bourse today were stronger, owing to an official denial of the alarmist reports concerning Morocco. French rentes recovered, the market became calm and at the close a firm tone prevailed. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 87.70 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 607. Three per cent rentes, 98 francs 90 centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 14½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, April 28.—Trading on the boerse today opened quiet with fractional rises in the principal speculative stocks, but prices closed without essential gains. Exchange on London, 20 marks 48¾ pfennigs for checks. Discount rates—Short bills, 3½ per cent; three months' bills, 2⅝ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

One of the noticeable features of Wall street gossip yesterday was that it never once touched upon legitimate trade conditions, but was concerned exclusively with the supposed attitude of the large financiers who have been credited with a desire for changing the railroad map of the northwest. A widely circulated report was to the effect that there had been a conference of these financiers or their representatives with the view to reaching some agreement; that if an agreement could be reached the fact would be allowed to gradually reach the public, but that in the meantime the market would reflect the change in the situation. The impression is growing that it is a case of the field against the Harriman interests, and as the latter are good fighters they may elect to contest any settlement that seriously reduces their influence in the railroad world. A great deal of curiosity is also manifested in the street as to the final settlement of the Equitable affair. Because the present investigating committee represents the board of directors, rather than the body of policy-holders, and it having been demonstrated that the board of directors is rent by factions, the street cannot see how the affair can finally be disposed of to the satisfaction of the public without an investigation by the legally constituted state authorities, or possibly by a federal court.

A New York dispatch said that a Wall street commission house which has a direct Pittsburgh connection, on Thursday sold 75,000 shares of stock and yesterday bought 100,000 shares, the latter being principally United States Steel. One Chicago house on Wednesday sold more than 100,000 shares of stock, but did comparatively little in the market yesterday.

There was no explanation for the break which occurred in the market during the last 15 minutes of the session. The leaders of the decline were Louisville & Nashville and American Locomotive common, and heavy selling occurred in United States Steel preferred, which carried the price under par. The effect upon the general market was to wipe out previous gains and produce a weak tone at the close.

The forecast of the currency movement for the week gave promise of a considerable increase in the cash holdings of the banks to be shown in today's bank statement. The persistent strength in the foreign exchange market supposed to be due to the preparation for remittances of Japanese loans subscriptions, is not liked. Discounts were firm in London and the price of sterling at Paris declined. Next week is payable one-half of the subscriptions to the $100,000,000 of Pennsylvania convertible bonds, with the privilege to subscribers to pay in the full amount.

There was a subsidence of the activity in Ohio Tonopah stock on the Pittsburgh exchange yesterday. A dispatch from Manager Ely denied a reported "strike" in the property, but it is said that a favorable change has been encountered in the formation of the 400-foot level, which gives some hope of future development. Concerning the stock the New York Commercial says: "During the past few days the local and Philadelphia market on Ohio-Tonopah stock has been considerably agitated. The stock has advanced from 38 cents nearly to 49 cents and declined again to 43 cents. The belief existed generally that the much expected 'strike' had at length been made. The stock of the company had been on the market for several years, but owing to the failure to discover any of the well-known Tonopah ledges in the property the stock has not advanced commensurately with some of the other high priced stocks. It has been variously reported that Charles Schwab had bought a large interest in the mine, but this has been officially denied."

While the resignation of the head of the Missouri Pacific system from the Union Pacific board was discussed with seriousness, the effect on the market was lessened by the relative firmness of Missouri Pacific and the good support of Union Pacific.

The West End Savings Bank and Trust Company has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 3 per cent, payable May 1.

Speyer & Co. are reported to have bought 200,000 shares of stocks yesterday.

The serious labor troubles in Chicago were not a factor in the stock market, but certainly did not contribute anything to improving sentiment.

The demand for Colonial Trust seems to be large enough to absorb all offerings at $400 a share. There were sales yesterday of 75 shares at that price.

The March statement of Chesapeake & Ohio shows an increase of $185,517 gross and $68,549 net.

The March statement of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh shows an increase of $9,944 gross and a decrease of $70,077 net.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have purchased $25,500,000 American Smelters Securities Company 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, series "B," guaranteed by the American Smelting and Refining Company, being part of a total authorized issue of $30,000,000.

SOUTH SIDE LOT BRINGS $65,000

TWO DOWNTOWN PURCHASES

The largest deal for South Side business property made for several years was closed yesterday through the agency of the new real estate firm of Molamphy & Bochert, who sold the Hotel Schott and adjoining property at the northwest corner of Carson and South Twenty-second streets for $65,000. John Graham and J. A. Murphy bought the property, which has a total renting value of $8,100 a year, making a gross return of 12.5 per cent on the investment. The corner lot is 120 feet square, and is regarded as one of the best corners on the South Side. The four-story brick hotel building stands at the intersection of the two streets. This contains 41 rooms and is a substantial building that is rented for $5,000 a year. Two eight-room brick houses stand beside the hotel, facing Carson street, and there are five brick houses in Twenty-second street. The buyers propose to tear down some old buildings at the west end of the Carson street frontage and provide a site, 48x120 feet, on which they will erect a four-story store and flat building to cost at least $20,000. The Schott property is directly across Twenty-second street from the site of the Carnegie branch library. The scheme to change the approach to the bridge over the Monongahela river and straighten Twenty-second street is also likely to be carried out this summer, and it will add greatly to the attractiveness and value of the property just sold.

407-409 Second Avenue Brings $60,000.

The deal for the A. C. Stein holdings at 407-409 Second avenue, which was started some two weeks ago, has been closed through the office of C. V. Sharp, Jr., the price being $60,000. The property was owned by Zorah Barnsch and others and several deals for it have been pending within the last three months. It has a frontage of 40 feet on the north side of Second avenue, 60 feet from Smithfield street, and a depth of 60 feet to Hoag alley. Two three-story brick houses on the lot rent for $3,600 a year. The property has a special value in that when it is desired to improve the corner of Smithfield street and Second avenue, now owned by the Fulton Company with a modern building, the Stein lot would be needed to give sufficient depth. Title to the property is taken by S. W. Crosby, a real estate broker, who, it is said, made the purchase for another investor. At $1,500 a foot, the price paid, the lot is considered very reasonable.

The Commonwealth Real Estate Company sold for Peale Drexel and Trust Company, trustee of the Sarah A. Reed estate, 104 Market street for $26,500. The lot is 20x60 feet and has on it a three-story brick warehouse, which rents for about $1,900 a year. The sale figures at the rate of a little over $1,300 a front foot or $22 08 a square foot.

Cost Only $12 48 a Square Foot.

A big grist of Allegheny deals were made known yesterday. The most interesting was the formal transfer from the Manor Real Estate Company to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of all the property between Federal and Sandusky streets and extending from Church avenue to the tracks of the Ft. Wayne and West Penn railroads. The plot has a frontage of 96 feet in Federal street, 488 feet in Church avenue and 91 feet in Sandusky street, and contains approximately 45,870 square feet. The consideration named in the deed is $376,352 25, which makes the entire property figure at the rate of only $12 48 a square foot. Nearly every lot in the plot is well improved with brick buildings that brought in a large rental at the time of their purchase in 1902. The Sauers hotel in Federal street was vacated some time ago and Max Klein is preparing to move to his Lawrenceville warehouse in a short time. Several of the Church avenue buildings have been vacated, and it is rumored that the entire lot may be cleared off soon.

It develops that the sale of the Charles Dunbar holdings at 904 Federal street for $27,000 was in the nature of a trade, the buyer, Joseph Bulka, giving in part payment a property in Anderson street, near Robinson street, Fourth ward, valued at $16,000. The lot measures 20x142 feet, and is improved with a brick house.

String of Allegheny Deals.

W. L. Scott & Co. are credited with another deal for Anderson street property which was closed yesterday, the consideration being $10,000. William Printy was the former owner of the lot, which measures 30x120 feet, and is on the east side of Anderson street, between Isabella and Robinson streets. It was bought by Charles G. Lane, whose hotel property it adjoins.

Stephen G. Porter, city solicitor of Allegheny, has bought from David S. Kennedy a reception hall brick house on 50x207 feet in Perrysville avenue, Fifteenth ward, for $10,200.

Frank C. Sauer has purchased from Charles E. Force an improved property, 30x134 feet, on the south side of South Canal street, near Stanwood street, Fourth ward, for $12,000. The lot adjoins the property of the Eagle Foundry and Machine Company.

Joseph Hartle has sold to E. F. Rowse of Homestead an improved property, 25x150 feet, in Roosevelt avenue, Fifteenth ward, and a residence property, 64x77 feet, at the corner of Montrose street and Spring alley, Sixteenth ward, for $12,000.

John F. Gibbs sold to Emma P. Topping a 10-room brick house on 24x141 feet, on the south side of Fayette street, near Fulton street, Fifth ward, Allegheny, for $12,500.

Sarah Auil has purchased from Emma McWilliams an improved lot, 39x115 feet, on the south side of Mansion avenue, Eleventh ward, for $10,500.

Big Building Near the Point.

Bids will be taken in a few days by an East End architect on the building which Edward Jackman will erect on the north side of Penn avenue, between Third and Fourth street. The site is 46x136 feet, the building will be six stories high, and will cost at least $90,000. The second story will be so arranged that trains passing on the Pennsylvania elevated line can unload freight, and it will be carried to the different floors in elevators.

Dahlia street: The Commonwealth Real Estate Company sold for M. B. Suydam to a local business man 60x110 feet in Dahlia street, Twentieth ward, for $9,000. The buyer will erect a fine brick house on the lot.

Evaline street: Molamphy & Bochert sold for Christopher Lauschbach to William Molamphy 310 Evaline street, a 10-room brick house on 25x100 feet, for $7,500.

FRICK COKE COMPANY SAID TO HAVE RAINEY

Belief Is General That Largest Independent Operation in Region Is Controlled by Corporation.

Steel and coke men are inclined to believe that an arrangement has been closed, or is about to be closed, between the United States Steel Corporation and the W. J. Rainey interests by which the coke output of the latter will be controlled by the H. C. Frick Coke Company.

It is stated that an absolute sale of the Rainey properties is not possible because of the instructions in the will of Mr. Rainey, who died only three years ago. He ordered that the property should not be sold for 15 years after his death. He looked forward to the rapid increase of its value as the supply of Connellsville coke became smaller.

On that account, it is said, a lease or a selling agency with a guarantee of certain income from the property would be the means by which the Frick company would control the Rainey output. The belief that such an arrangement has already been made is assisted by the closing of 350 Rainey ovens. With a lively market it is existing at present it is not believed that such a move would have been made unless there had been a lack of competition.

The Rainey interest is the largest independent one in the coke region, and at one time exceeded the Frick company. The Raineys own over 3,000 ovens, all in the Connellsville region proper. The sale of their output, together with that of the Hecla Coke Company a few days ago, make two big deals by which the Steel corporation tightens its grasp upon the Connellsville region.

LOCAL FLOUR MARKET IS SETTLED DOWN

Buyers Afraid to Risk Much Yet and Millers Report Trade at Standstill.

Local market business was unusually good yesterday, but there were no special changes in prices. The flour market seems to have settled for a few days. The Northwestern Miller, in the review for this week, says the flour business at the mills is the poorest yet. The heavy cut in the price of flour has tended to curtail buying rather than to encourage it, as buyers are afraid to venture much under such conditions. There is some demand for export, or rather some inquiry, and this may tend to strengthen the price.

Strawberries were marked down yesterday, but are expected to advance 25 to 50 cents a crate today. All other fruits and vegetables remain about the same. The green goods market yesterday developed an unusually good trade. There is a tendency toward lower figures, however, for all kinds of fruit and produce and these are expected to benefit the business materially.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay and straw yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 39 cars hay, 18 cars corn, 2 cars straw, 2 cars feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars hay. Baltimore & Ohio, 12 cars hay, 1 car feed. 1 car oats.

Receipts of hay were heavy yesterday and the market was inclined to sag off some. Straw is also more plentiful, which has eased up the situation a little in that line. Corn, both ear and shelled, continues in light receipt. Oats are steady and millfeed continues dull.

BUSINESS IS BROADENING IN A WHOLESALE MANNER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Business broadens in a wholesome manner, and the most encouraging indication regarding the future is the scarcity of labor disputes. These controversies are usually most numerous on May 1, but this year no serious trouble is threatened, and one beneficent result is the expanding activity in the building trades. Jobbers have experienced a good spring trade, and manufacturers are now receiving large contracts for fall shipment, while retail sales are of satisfactory volume, except at a few points where inclement weather has temporarily retarded distribution.

Activity at the interior is evidenced by the increased transfers thither of silver dollars and subsidiary silver by the treasury, crop prospects being well maintained despite excessive cold in a few sections. Railway traffic continues very heavy, earnings for April thus far exceeding the same period last year by 10.7 per cent, while foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a gain of $3,854,447 in value of merchandise imported, and an increase of $1,947,850 in exports as compared with 1904. Mercantile collections show further improvement and money remains abundant and easy.

Current conditions and prospects for the future are both extremely satisfactory in the iron and steel industry. Several new plants have been completed and others repaired and put in operation, so it is undoubtedly the fact that current production of iron and steel is constantly establishing new high records. Two lines of distribution are particularly overwhelmed with business—railway equipment and structural steel.

Strength is still conspicuous in the bide situation, large tanners purchasing more freely. Leather is also more active. Textile industries continue to make encouraging progress. Condition of cotton and other primary markets has not been depressed by the weakness of the raw material, the situation exhibiting more inherent strength than for many seasons. Woolen goods are quiet, duplicate orders not yet arriving from clothiers, but quotations are readily maintained, particularly as the new wool has begun to move without any depressing effect.

The domestic iron situation shows little change, but is perhaps a shade steadier with some producers refusing to fully meet the recent declines. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $17 25@18 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $16 75@17 50; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern soft at $17 25@17 75, and No. 2 foundry southern at $16 75@17 25.

Bradstreets tomorrow will say:

Wheat (including flour) exports for the week ending April 27, are 1,260,316 bushels, against 1,242,267 bushels last week, 1,040,850 bushels this week last year, 3,418,280 bushels in 1903, and 5,398,135 bushels in 1902. From July 1 to date the exports are 92,508,230 bushels, against 171,720,747 bushels last year, 137,060,-350 bushels in 1903, and 211,350,396 bushels in 1902. Corn exports for the week are 1,885,708 bushels, against 2,327,604 bushels last week, 158,198 bushels a year ago, 3,220,135 bushels in 1903, and 128,079 bushels in 1902. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 67,267,-411 bushels, against 48,103,409 bushels in 1904, 76,414,852 bushels in 1903 and 24,604,661 bushels in 1902.

BULLISH SENTIMENT RULES THE MARKET

Higher Foreign Cables and Reports of Rust Damage Impart Strength to Wheat Pit.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 28.—Higher prices at Liverpool had a strengthening effect on the wheat market here today. Bullish sentiment was augmented through reports of damage by rust to fall sown wheat in Texas. The market closed firm with July up ⅝@⅞c. May is up ⅝c. Corn shows a gain of ⅛c. Oats are practically unchanged. Provisions are down 2½@7½c.

Notwithstanding a continuation of excellent weather conditions throughout the United States a degree of confidence on the buying side of the wheat market that had not been felt for some time past was in evidence. A part of the

ANCIENT CUSTOM IS OBSERVED BY SLAVS

Celebrate Monday and Tuesday Following Easter by Ducking Each Other With Water.

The custom of throwing water on each other on the Monday and Tuesday following Easter, as observed by the Slavs, attracted hundreds of people to the foreign settlements in Braddock and Homestead last week, and much amusement was afforded the spectators.

This custom is observed universally by the Slavs. It is of ancient origin and is said to signify that the person on whom the water is thrown has been cleaned bodily as well as spiritually, the water-throwing taking place immediately after Easter Sunday when it is supposed that all have confessed their sins and been purified.

Hundreds of people gathered in the sections inhabited by the Slavs on water-throwing days to watch the sport. Ordinary water buckets were generally used but often washtubs filled with water are emptied on the men or women from a second-story window. The water-throwing is kept up from early morning until late at night, and many of the Slavs are ducked while they are yet in bed.

During the water-throwing celebration in Homestead on Monday last Constable Thomas Shinton was given a ducking by the Slav women. The constable was in the Slavish district to serve a warrant when he was attacked and drenched from head to feet by the women.

The delegates, including Mrs. William H. House, Miss Mary Bakewell and Miss Georgia Allison, gave interesting accounts of the proceedings of the meeting, Mrs. Nelson P. Reed, who has been visiting in Cleveland, being the only one who could not be present.

Rates of Endowment.

The endowment of the new Columbia hospital was the principal business taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the United Presbyterian Women's association yesterday afternoon in the United Presbyterian building in Ninth street. The announcement of the gift of $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie to the association, which was made yesterday morning, was the occasion of congratulation, and Mrs. John W. McElwain, the corresponding secretary, was authorized to send Mr. Carnegie a letter of thanks from the association. The association yesterday afternoon adopted a new schedule of amounts for the endowment of wards, private rooms and single beds. The features of the new schedule recommended by the hospital board and adopted with a few amendments by the association included the following conditions: $5,000 will endow a ward of four beds, the donor having the privilege of naming the ward in perpetuity and designating the occupants of the room during his own and the lifetime of a successor whom he may name; in the event of no successor being named, the association having the right of naming the occupants of the room; $5,000 will endow a single bed in a large ward, the name to be given by an individual donor in perpetuity, this clause being omitted in the case of churches or other corporation making the endowment; $4,000 will endow a bed to be named in perpetuity by an individual donor, who may keep the bed occupied during his own and his successors' lifetime, this last privilege in the case of churches being for 50 years only, and for other corporations for 15 years; $8,000 will endow a private room to be named in perpetuity; $600 paid annually will support a bed in a private room; $300 a bed in a large ward. A children's ward containing six beds may be endowed for $25,000. There are four wards, each to contain 12 beds, and two smaller wards with a capacity of six children's beds each. It was decided yesterday to set aside the two smaller wards for the children. Five memorial rooms, each costing $500, have been purchased. No more memorial rooms costing $250 will be sold. Already there are 11 of these rooms, and it is not considered wise to dispose of all the rooms in the building. Rooms which may still be made memorial rooms are the board and assembly room, $1,500; the dining room, $1,500; the reception room, $850; six rest rooms, $500 each, and the superintendents' room, $300. After the completion of the hospital at an estimated cost of $150,000, with an additional $25,000 for furnishing, all of which at the opening of the institution next August or September the managers expect to be free of debt, the board will take up the consideration of a training school for nurses in connection with the institution. The nurses' home will be erected at a cost of $20,000. Later the women will also decide upon the purchase of an ambulance.

The reports of the managers of the orphans' home showed the presence of a smaller family of children in that institution than usual, the number yesterday being 52, two having been admitted yesterday morning. In the Home for the Aged there are now 56 inmates, three having died during the past two months, three admitted and yesterday morning a fourth death in the home this spring being reported. The association also decided to accept the invitation of the Automobile club to take the children of the different orphans' homes in automobiles through Schenley park to Luna park, where lunch will be served. One manager is expected to accompany each group of five children. The annual donation and reception day at the Orphans' home and the Memorial hospital will be observed on Thursday, May 11. Mrs. George B. Hill, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. D. E. Watson and Mrs. George Harris were appointed a committee to take charge of the immediate printing of the new schedule of endowment and memorial rates.

Appoints Chairman for the Bazar.

A unique feature of the benefit entertainment which will be held on the Kindergarten college grounds about June 20 by the managers of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association was decided upon yesterday morning. Booths will be erected representing the different days of the week, where articles particularly significant of the work of housekeepers on those days will be displayed for sale. At Monday's booth there will be articles characteristic of wash-day, and Mrs. Frank G. Hoyce and Miss Eleanor Watson will be chairmen of the committee. Tuesday and Thursday, the ironing and cleaning day booth will be presided over by members of the Auxiliary circles, Miss Grace Taylor, chairman. Mrs. T. H. B. McKnight and Mrs. George E. Hogg, Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Bates, Mrs. Columbus Wilson, Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock and Mrs. William H. House.

Iams, G. B. Packer and E. L. Mattern, to formulate plans for effective organization and work. The committee will also present the names of three people for the office of vice president at the next meeting, which will be held on Friday, May 12. ## Now Use Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Millions of people, of nine different nations, are constant users of Liquozone. Some are using it to get well; some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. No medicine was ever so widely employed. These users are everywhere; your neighbors and friends are among them. And half the people you meet—wherever you are—know someone whom Liquozone has cured.

If you need help, please ask some of these users what Liquozone does. Don't blindly take medicine for what medicine cannot do. Drugs never kill germs. For your own sake, ask about Liquozone; then let us buy you a full-size bottle to try.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of difficult cases, that Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.
